Mary Seyer Teenage Queen

By SUSAN SHEMWELL

ORAN — "Cousin Kornella from Greenbriar Hollar entertained at the Miss Teenage Centennial contest and old fashioned dance at the Oran Guardian Angel Pavilion last night. Accompanied by The Varieties, of Oran, Kornella, Mrs. Emily Green of Chaffee, played instruments from a shotgun, powder horn, teakettle, coffee pot, corn cob and a spool from the Advance Shoe Factory.

Miss Mary Seyer was chosen Miss Teenage Centennial from 15 contestants in a beauty and poise contest by Judges E.P. Coleman, Ed Fox and Theron Stallings of Sikeston. John Dennis, county sheriff, crowned the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Seyer to reign over the dance.

"If college students got together with administrations, they would do better." Miss Seyer said, telling her opinion of campus riots to the judges. "All of this rioting is not accomplishing a thing."

Miss Teresa Kielhofner was first runner-up and Miss Cheri Schlatt was second runner-up.

Mayor Louie Hirschowitz announced other centennial activities at the dance attended by 400 at which 70 pounds of fish were fried.

Today at 8 p.m. citizens will meet at City Park to choose a cast of 250 actors for the historical pageant July 21.

The centennial kick-off and queen's reception will be at 8 p.m., Monday at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

A box supper on the City Hall grounds will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Decorated box dinners will be auctioned.

A homemade ice-cream supper will be held July 8 at 8 p.m. on the City Hall grounds.

Five Injured in Two Mishaps Near Charleston

Five were injured in two accidents east of Charleston early today, the highway patrol reported.

At 12:15 a.m. today, three were injured seriously in a four-car accident one mile east of Charleston on highway 60.

Patsy Brewer, 23, Charleston, driver of a 1969 Chevrolet sedan; Arlene Leland, 14, Gary, Ind., a passenger in a car driven by Joe Leland, 33, Milwaukee, and Mickey Reltherford, 30, a passenger in the Leland car, were taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

In an accident at 4 a.m. today two and one half miles east of Wyatt on Highway 80, Leonard James, Jr., 40, Harrisburg, Ill., suffered internal injuries, a broken leg, and a finger was cut off.

In the same accident, Robert Faulkner, 27, Hodgkins, Ill., a passenger in a 1969 Dodge Charger, driven by Sammy Lee Hooker, 34, Texarkana, Texas, was injured seriously.

Both were taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

In the 12:15 a.m. collision, the 1969 Chevrolet driven by Patsy Brewer, was traveling east on highway 62 and pulled onto highway 60 in front of a 1965 Oldsmobile, driven by Leland, the patrol reported.

A 1959 Chevrolet station wagon, driven by Michael Lambert, 18, Arlington, Ky., was going east on highway 60 and a 1969 Plymouth, driven by Shirley Spencer, 26, Perryville, Ark., was stopped on the shoulder heading west.

The Leland automobile struck the Chevrolet sedan driven by Patsy Brewer and the Leland vehicle remained on the highway. Then, the Lambert vehicle struck the Leland car and continued on to strike the 1969 Plymouth driven by Shirley Spencer.

In the 4 a.m. accident, a 1969 International semi-trailer truck, driven by Leonard James and the 1969 Dodge Charger, driven by Hooker, were entering a curve traveling in opposite directions. Hooker was towing a 1963 Chevrolet.

The Hooker vehicle, going east, and the Chevrolet he was towing, got into the wrong lane and the James truck struck both the manned and unmanned cars, the patrol reported.

The truck then ran off the road and overturned off the levee down a 15-foot embankment.

Nixon Names Choice For Top Health Post

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon announced today that he will appoint 'Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, dean of the University of Southern California Medical School, to the nation's top health post.

The announcement came a day after Secretary of Health Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch gave up trying to get the job for Dr. John H. Knowles.

The announcement was made in New York by White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, who said Finch has no intention of resigning, despite his defeat in the fight with the American Medical Association and Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

The fight to name Knowles, director of Massachusetts General Hospital, as an assistant secretary of HEW was abandoned by Finch because of heavy opposition by Dirksen and elements within the American Medical Association.

Egeberg, as the new assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs, will be responsible for almost $15 billion in federal funds to be spent on health-connected programs.

Nixon came to New York Friday after ceremonies at Massena, N.Y., and Montreal, Canada, marking the 10th anniversary of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Finch Friday abandoned a five-month fight for the appointment of Dr. Knowles as his chief lieutenant for health affairs. Knowles, 45, is director of Massachusetts General Hospital.

The secretary one of Nixon's closest advisers, bowed to opposition by the ruling elements of organized medicine, backed by Senate Majority Leader Everett M. Dirksen. Knowles has been a long-time backer of medicare and other causes unpopular to some of his medical colleagues.

Weather Delays Road Opening

PORTAGEVILLE — Inclement weather has delayed the re-routing of traffic onto new road at the end of Interstate 55, three miles south of Portageville. C.R. Simpson, resident engineer on the project, said weather conditions have prevented shouldering work from being completed.

It is now planned to route two-way traffic onto the new pavement beginning Tuesday.

"Traffic should not be hindered, but motorists should use caution when driving through the project because construction will be active," Simpson said.

The change in routing was scheduled to take place yesterday.

First Cotton Bloom Reported in Area

KEWANEE — C. L. "Bud" Martin and his son Charles L. "Goob"' Jr.., Kewanee, reported Saturday morning what is believed to be the first cotton bloom in the Sikeston area.

The bloom came from a 72 acre field, planted April 27, with MODEL (Missouri Delta) seed, purchased from E. B. Gee Cotton and Grain Co., Marston. The seed was bred at Delta Experiment Station at Portageville. Last year the elder Martin used DPL seed and the younger Martin planted Stoneville. Both reported good success, but both feel this year's Model crop will be the best. They are hopeful of seeing two bales and acre recorded.

The Martin's said they had a perfect stand on the acreage as early as May 1. They used 350 pounds 6-24-24 fertilizer to the acre with Treflan pre-murge used and followed by Cotoran with the planter.

The crop has been chopped twice.

Estranged Husband Charged in Slaying

KENNETT — Dunklin County Deputy Sheriff Radford Raines and Highway Patrolmen Joe Matthews flew to Kansas City this morning to bring Bobby Buck, 40, to Dunklin County, where he is charged with first degree murder.

Buck, who as arrested about 4:15 p.m. Friday by Kansas City police, is accused of killing his estranged wife, Wilma Buck, 38, who as found dead Friday in her trailer home.

She was found and had been beaten on the head with a blunt instrument. The weapon has not been found.

The woman's car, a 1965 yellow Mustang convertible, is also missing.

Blackwell States Debate Preference

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, wants Gov. Warren E. Hearnes to appear in a televised debate on tax problems before a joint House-Senate session today.

He sent the proposal to the governor in a letter Friday night but there was no immediate reply from the governor.

Blackwell said the issue should be threshed out before the lawmakers who will have to decide it before the legislature adjourns at midnight Monday.

The governor had proposed ealier that Blackwell's representate meet with his administrative assistant, Floyd Warmann, in St. Louis today at the studios of KMOX-TV, which had offered to televise the debate and make its video tape available to all Missouri stations.

The controversy is over a House - passed measure to increase individual and corporate income taxes to yield about $62 million to the state coffers in the first full year.

Hearnes has said he needs the additional money to balance the state's budget for the fiscal year that begins Monday. Blackwell has challenged that with a state money picture of his own.

The Senate approved an increase from 2 to 5 per cent in the corporate income tax—going one per cent over what the House passed. It refused to go along, though, with a House move to increase individual income taxes by $34 million.

The bill that cleared the House in a storm of controversy about a month ago has rested in a House-Senate conference committee for more than two weeks.

Blackwell said Friday the Senate conferees were willing to continue debate on the proposal by Rep. Richard J. Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, majority leader and head of the House conferees, said the Senate would first have to withdraw "unreasonable demands that certain conditions be met."

News Briefs

Supreme Court Disbars Hasler

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A former St. Louis County circuit court judge was ordered disbarred from the practice of law Friday by the State Supreme Court.

Judge John D. Hasler was ordered ousted for "gross misconduct as a judge and as a lawyer."

Hasler was accused of having private meetings and telephone conversations with Mrs. Shelby —formerly of Poplar Bluff—regarding the divorce suit "without the knowledge of Mr. Shelby or his counsel.

Hasler resigned as judge last August just as he was to appear before the Supreme Court to face impeachment charges drawn by the Missouri House.

The court said in a brief order written by Acting Chief Justice Fred L. Henley:

"The misconduct of a lawyer acting as a judge may justify his disbarment as a member of the bar. A violation of his judicial oath aggraves the offense of disregarding his oath as a a lawyer."

Finch Reportedly to Resign

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Finch will resign as U.S. secretary of health, education and welfare within a month, the Detroit Free Press reported in a dispatch from Washington today.

Citing "top Republican congressional sources," the newspaper article by William Vance, said Finch, angry and bitterly disappointed over President Nixon's refusal to appoint Dr. John H. Knowles as the nation's top health officer, will return to California and and re-enter politics.

Finch had been California's lieutenant governor until he resigned to accept the Cabinet post in the Nixon administration. The Free Press said he is reportedly considering running for the U.S. Senate seat currently held by Republican George Murphy.

Finch denied Thursday a report he had threatened to quit if Knowles were not nominated. The report had appeared in the Los Angeles Times.

But the "congressional sources" said their information on Finch's coming resignation came directly from the White House, the Free Press said.

MU Curators Bypass Fees

Sen. Richard Webster, R-Carthage, told the Missouri Senate Wednesday that the curators already had agreed to hike fees by $100 a year for Missouri students and $200 for non-residents.

That was denied emphatically Friday by Judge William Billings of Kennett, president of the curators, who said the board had discussed fees but had taken no action, formal or informal, on them.

"The board on Curators will take some action when the legislature finishes its business," Billings said.

Car Hit Coming Out of Drive

Mrs. Gene Garner, 629 Branum, told police Thursday night that a car driven by a woman ran into her husband's Falcon while he was backing out of the drive.

Mrs. Garner said the woman stated her name and asked to use the phone. When she left Mrs. Garner called a number she gave her and found the woman apparently had given a false name, police reported.

Odis Morris, 318 Ruth, said that a tool box was stolen from the back of his truck Thursday morning.

Charles Marshal, 310 Maude, is free on $56 bail after being arrested being arrested Thursday morning on a charge of driving while intoxicated

Trumans Attain 50-Year Mark

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — It was 50 years ago today that a freshly- discharged artillery captain and his childhood sweetheart were married in a little church and settled down in the sprawling white frame house here where they still live.

The wedding rated a respectable 28 lines of type of the next day's Kansas City Star. But it received little attention anywhere else in a nation more concerned with signing of the Versailles Treaty and the pending fight between heavyweight champion Jess Willard and challenger Jack Dempsey.

The couple has seen a lot of excitement and attention since then, but their golden wedding anniversary will find former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman once again living the peaceful, secluded life of home.

The Trumans like to keep family affairs in the family, and their anniversary was planned to be private with an exchange of gifts and perhaps a few friends and relatives visiting.

Weapon and Escape Charges Draw Fines

Two $56 fines were levied in city court by Judge James Sickal.

James Williams Parmenter, Rector, Ark., was fined $56 on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Ronnie A. Lay, 302 Lions, was fined $56 on a charge of escaping custody.

Fined for careless driving were Sheila Fay Crowley Copeland, 317 Edmondson, $17; Joe Boshell, 243 Daniel, $14; Robert L. Morphis, 310 (rear) West Gladys, $15, and Larry J. Adams, 403 Matthews, $15.

Fined for public intoxication were Ona Lee Skinner Jr., Blytheville, Ark., $12; Lay, $12, and Albert Lee Jones, Dexter, $12.

Elwestley Branyon, 1613 Washington, was fined $21 for disturbing the peace.

Illinois Woman Vacations in Sikeston With Artificial Kidney

By DAN D. WHITTLE

When Mrs.Mary Byrd, Willow Springs, Ill., left on vacation she took along her husband, Matthew, their three teen-aged daughters, and her artificial kidney.

Mrs. Byrd probably is the only visitor in Sikeston with such an apparatus.

The kidney machine weighs about 400 pounds, but the Byrds didn't mind the burden, for without it no vacation trip would have been possible. Mrs. Byrd's life depends on twice-weekly blood-cleansing procedures on the machine.

With the artificial kidney safely aboard a vacation trailer, the family has visited Mrs. Byrd's father in Alabama and plan to extend their vacation journey to the Great Smokies.

Managing the machine in a trailer presents no unusual problems. Mr. and Mrs. Byrd live in a large house trailer home in the Santa Fe Trailer Park in a Chicago suburb.

When Mrs. Byrd's lone kidney, one was removed in 1955, failed last fall, she was treated on an artificial kidney machine at West Suburban Hospital in Oak Park. Later, in a program directed by Dr. Robert C. Muehrcke, she and her husband were trained to use the device at home. Her husband said five months training was required for him to become adept in operating the $3,000 mechanism.

At home the machine is kept in a 10-feet-square room. Its use has been so successful that Mrs. Byrd, 38, has been able to work every day since at a Fisher Body Plant cafeteria in Willow Springs. Her husband is employed by Fisher Body.

"There's no pain when the machine is in use," Mrs. Byrd said, "but I do get a bit sick at my stomach following the session." Each session normally lasts five to six hours. Mrs. Byrd recently went two weeks without a blood-purification treatment and her condition worsened considerably.

Her husband said a patient with similar kidney failure refused to cooperate in the machine program and "she lived for nine days." He said his wife would be in severe pain within 15 days if the machine was not used regularly. About 45 minutes is the normal time required for Byrd to set the machine up for use.

Byrd said the machine's initial cost is not the great problem. "It's the chemicals required. It costs from $60 to $75 every time we set the machine in use," Byrd said.

The family encountered a problem upon arriving in Sikeston concerning chemicals. "I had a time getting supplies. I especially needed blood coagulate, and finally bought it from the hospital," after a doctor prescribed it, Byrd said.

Byrd's brother, George Byrd Jr., said Mrs. Byrd is awaiting a kidney transplant. "But her body has to be properly conditioned for this," he said. It has not been ascertained when the operation will take place.

According to the Kidney Foundation of Illinois, Mrs. Byrd is one of 18 persons in that state now using kidney machines at home. About 160 are getting treatment in Illinois hospitals.

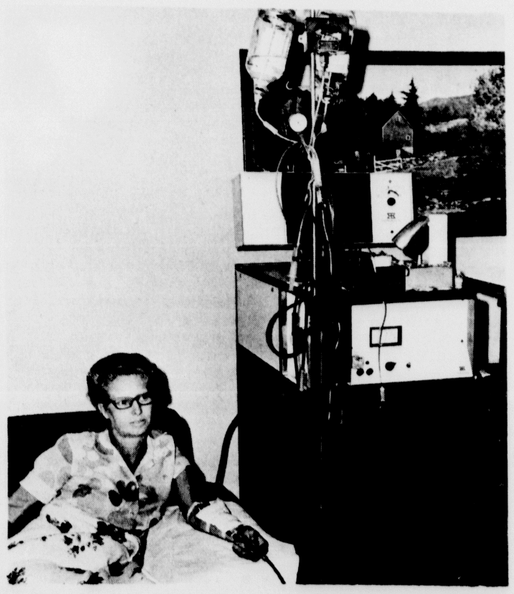
The Illinois department of public health is providing part or all of the money for treatment of 59 of these. Persons receiving treatments have paid $97,193; the balance of $532,000 was paid by the state.

Since many whose lives depend on the costly treatments have exhausted personal funds and insurance, the state will pay $607,000 for the year beginning July 1.

The foundation is seeking a budget to increase from $500,000 to $907,000 so treatment can be maid available to others who must have it or die.

The Byrd family plans to return home July 7 for work.

They said this is "one vacation" they have enjoyed.



MRS. MARY BYRD'S life depends on this machine that twice-weekly purifies her blood.

Nixon Adds Romania to Global Stops

NEW YORK — (AP) — President Nixon announced today he is going to visit a Communist country — Romania.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Romania invited the chief executive to come, and he will do so early in August, following a circuit of five Southeast Asian capitals.

The same trip also will encompass a stop in mid-Pacific aboard the aircraft carrier Hornet to welcome the Apollo 11 astronauts back from their moonwalk voyage.

So the President will be making a globe-girdling trip, starting with a departure from Washington July 23, and the viewing of the astronaut splashdown July 24 about 300 miles from Johnston Island in the Pacific.

From there, the President will proceed to Manila, Indonesia, Thailand, India and Pakistan. And eventually he will wind up in Bucharest, Romania.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers will accompany Nixon to the Philippines and Indonesia and also go independently to Japan, Korea, Taiwan, Australia and New Zealand.

First Cotton Bloom Reported in Area

KEWANEE — C. L. "Bud" Martin and his son Charles L. "Goob"' Jr.., Kewanee, reported Saturday morning what is believed to be the first cotton bloom in the Sikeston area.

The bloom came from a 72 acre field, planted April 27, with MODEL (Missouri Delta) seed, purchased from E. B. Gee Cotton and Grain Co., Marston. The seed was bred at Delta Experiment Station at Portageville. Last year the elder Martin used DPL seed and the younger Martin planted Stoneville. Both reported good success, but both feel this year's Model crop will be the best. They are hopeful of seeing two bales and acre recorded.

The Martin's said they had a perfect stand on the acreage as early as May 1. They used 350 pounds 6-24-24 fertilizer to the acre with Treflan pre-murge used and followed by Cotoran with the planter.

The crop has been chopped twice.

Estranged Husband Charged in Slaying

KENNETT — Dunklin County Deputy Sheriff Radford Raines and Highway Patrolmen Joe Matthews flew to Kansas City this morning to bring Bobby Buck, 40, to Dunklin County, where he is charged with first degree murder.

Buck, who as arrested about 4:15 p.m. Friday by Kansas City police, is accused of killing his estranged wife, Wilma Buck, 38, who as found dead Friday in her trailer home.

She was found and had been beaten on the head with a blunt instrument. The weapon has not been found.

The woman's car, a 1965 yellow Mustang convertible, is also missing.

Blackwell States Debate Preference

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, wants Gov. Warren E. Hearnes to appear in a televised debate on tax problems before a joint House-Senate session today.

He sent the proposal to the governor in a letter Friday night but there was no immediate reply from the governor.

Blackwell said the issue should be threshed out before the lawmakers who will have to decide it before the legislature adjourns at midnight Monday.

The governor had proposed ealier that Blackwell's representate meet with his administrative assistant, Floyd Warmann, in St. Louis today at the studios of KMOX-TV, which had offered to televise the debate and make its video tape available to all Missouri stations.

The controversy is over a House - passed measure to increase individual and corporate income taxes to yield about $62 million to the state coffers in the first full year.

Hearnes has said he needs the additional money to balance the state's budget for the fiscal year that begins Monday. Blackwell has challenged that with a state money picture of his own.

The Senate approved an increase from 2 to 5 per cent in the corporate income tax—going one per cent over what the House passed. It refused to go along, though, with a House move to increase individual income taxes by $34 million.

The bill that cleared the House in a storm of controversy about a month ago has rested in a House-Senate conference committee for more than two weeks.

Blackwell said Friday the Senate conferees were willing to continue debate on the proposal by Rep. Richard J. Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, majority leader and head of the House conferees, said the Senate would first have to withdraw "unreasonable demands that certain conditions be met."

Nixon Adds Romania to Global Stops

NEW YORK — (AP) — President Nixon announced today he is going to visit a Communist country — Romania.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Romania invited the chief executive to come, and he will do so early in August, following a circuit of five Southeast Asian capitals.

The same trip also will encompass a stop in mid-Pacific aboard the aircraft carrier Hornet to welcome the Apollo 11 astronauts back from their moonwalk voyage.

So the President will be making a globe-girdling trip, starting with a departure from Washington July 23, and the viewing of the astronaut splashdown July 24 about 300 miles from Johnston Island in the Pacific.

From there, the President will proceed to Manila, Indonesia, Thailand, India and Pakistan. And eventually he will wind up in Bucharest, Romania.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers will accompany Nixon to the Philippines and Indonesia and also go independently to Japan, Korea, Taiwan, Australia and New Zealand.

Mary Seyer Teenage Queen

By SUSAN SHEMWELL

ORAN — "Cousin Kornella from Greenbriar Hollar entertained at the Miss Teenage Centennial contest and old fashioned dance at the Oran Guardian Angel Pavilion last night. Accompanied by The Varieties, of Oran, Kornella, Mrs. Emily Green of Chaffee, played instruments from a shotgun, powder horn, teakettle, coffee pot, corn cob and a spool from the Advance Shoe Factory.

Miss Mary Seyer was chosen Miss Teenage Centennial from 15 contestants in a beauty and poise contest by Judges E.P. Coleman, Ed Fox and Theron Stallings of Sikeston. John Dennis, county sheriff, crowned the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Seyer to reign over the dance.

"If college students got together with administrations, they would do better." Miss Seyer said, telling her opinion of campus riots to the judges. "All of this rioting is not accomplishing a thing."

Miss Teresa Kielhofner was first runner-up and Miss Cheri Schlatt was second runner-up.

Mayor Louie Hirschowitz announced other centennial activities at the dance attended by 400 at which 70 pounds of fish were fried.

Today at 8 p.m. citizens will meet at City Park to choose a cast of 250 actors for the historical pageant July 21.

The centennial kick-off and queen's reception will be at 8 p.m., Monday at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

A box supper on the City Hall grounds will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Decorated box dinners will be auctioned.

A homemade ice-cream supper will be held July 8 at 8 p.m. on the City Hall grounds.

ORAN MISS TEENAGE CENTENNIAL, Miss Mary Seyer, was crowned last night by Scott County Sheriff John Dennis. First runner-up is Miss Teresa Kielhofner, left, and second runner-up is Miss Cheri Schlatt.

Supreme Court Disbars Hasler

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A former St. Louis County circuit court judge was ordered disbarred from the practice of law Friday by the State Supreme Court.

Judge John D. Hasler was ordered ousted for "gross misconduct as a judge and as a lawyer."

Hasler was accused of having private meetings and telephone conversations with Mrs. Shelby —formerly of Poplar Bluff—regarding the divorce suit "without the knowledge of Mr. Shelby or his counsel.

Hasler resigned as judge last August just as he was to appear before the Supreme Court to face impeachment charges drawn by the Missouri House.

The court said in a brief order written by Acting Chief Justice Fred L. Henley:

"The misconduct of a lawyer acting as a judge may justify his disbarment as a member of the bar. A violation of his judicial oath aggraves the offense of disregarding his oath as a a lawyer."

Finch Reportedly to Resign

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Finch will resign as U.S. secretary of health, education and welfare within a month, the Detroit Free Press reported in a dispatch from Washington today.

Citing "top Republican congressional sources," the newspaper article by William Vance, said Finch, angry and bitterly disappointed over President Nixon's refusal to appoint Dr. John H. Knowles as the nation's top health officer, will return to California and and re-enter politics.

Finch had been California's lieutenant governor until he resigned to accept the Cabinet post in the Nixon administration. The Free Press said he is reportedly considering running for the U.S. Senate seat currently held by Republican George Murphy.

Finch denied Thursday a report he had threatened to quit if Knowles were not nominated. The report had appeared in the Los Angeles Times.

But the "congressional sources" said their information on Finch's coming resignation came directly from the White House, the Free Press said.

MU Curators Bypass Fees

Sen. Richard Webster, R-Carthage, told the Missouri Senate Wednesday that the curators already had agreed to hike fees by $100 a year for Missouri students and $200 for non-residents.

That was denied emphatically Friday by Judge William Billings of Kennett, president of the curators, who said the board had discussed fees but had taken no action, formal or informal, on them.

"The board on Curators will take some action when the legislature finishes its business," Billings said.

Car Hit Coming Out of Drive

Mrs. Gene Garner, 629 Branum, told police Thursday night that a car driven by a woman ran into her husband's Falcon while he was backing out of the drive.

Mrs. Garner said the woman stated her name and asked to use the phone. When she left Mrs. Garner called a number she gave her and found the woman apparently had given a false name, police reported.

Odis Morris, 318 Ruth, said that a tool box was stolen from the back of his truck Thursday morning.

Trumans Attain 50-Year Mark

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — It was 50 years ago today that a freshly- discharged artillery captain and his childhood sweetheart were married in a little church and settled down in the sprawling white frame house here where they still live.

The wedding rated a respectable 28 lines of type of the next day's Kansas City Star. But it received little attention anywhere else in a nation more concerned with signing of the Versailles Treaty and the pending fight between heavyweight champion Jess Willard and challenger Jack Dempsey.

The couple has seen a lot of excitement and attention since then, but their golden wedding anniversary will find former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman once again living the peaceful, secluded life of home.

The Trumans like to keep family affairs in the family, and their anniversary was planned to be private with an exchange of gifts and perhaps a few friends and relatives visiting.

Weapon and Escape Charges Draw Fines

Two $56 fines were levied in city court by Judge James Sickal.

James Williams Parmenter, Rector, Ark., was fined $56 on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Ronnie A. Lay, 302 Lions, was fined $56 on a charge of escaping custody.

Fined for careless driving were Sheila Fay Crowley Copeland, 317 Edmondson, $17; Joe Boshell, 243 Daniel, $14; Robert L. Morphis, 310 (rear) West Gladys, $15, and Larry J. Adams, 403 Matthews, $15.

Fined for public intoxication were Ona Lee Skinner Jr., Blytheville, Ark., $12; Lay, $12, and Albert Lee Jones, Dexter, $12.

Elwestley Branyon, 1613 Washington, was fined $21 for disturbing the peace.

Illinois Woman Vacations in Sikeston With Artificial Kidney

By DAN D. WHITTLE

When Mrs.Mary Byrd, Willow Springs, Ill., left on vacation she took along her husband, Matthew, their three teen-aged daughters, and her artificial kidney.

The kidney machine weighs about 400 pounds, but the Byrds didn't mind the burden, for without it no vacation trip would have been possible. Mrs. Byrd's life depends on twice-weekly blood-cleansing procedures on the machine.

With the artificial kidney safely aboard a vacation trailer, the family has visited Mrs. Byrd's father in Alabama and plan to extend their vacation journey to the Great Smokies.

Managing the machine in a trailer presents no unusual problems. Mr. and Mrs. Byrd live in a large house trailer home in the Santa Fe Trailer Park in a Chicago suburb.

When Mrs. Byrd's lone kidney, one was removed in 1955, failed last fall, she was treated on an artificial kidney machine at West Suburban Hospital in Oak Park. Later, in a program directed by Dr. Robert C. Muehrcke, she and her husband were trained to use the device at home. Her husband said five months training was required for him to become adept in operating the $3,000 mechanism.

At home the machine is kept in a 10-feet-square room. Its use has been so successful that Mrs. Byrd, 38, has been able to work every day since at a Fisher Body Plant cafeteria in Willow Springs. Her husband is employed by Fisher Body.

"There's no pain when the machine is in use," Mrs. Byrd said, "but I do get a bit sick at my stomach following the session." Each session normally lasts five to six hours. Mrs. Byrd recently went two weeks without a blood-purification treatment and her condition worsened considerably.

Her husband said a patient with similar kidney failure refused to cooperate in the machine program and "she lived for nine days." He said his wife would be in severe pain within 15 days if the machine was not used regularly. About 45 minutes is the normal time required for Byrd to set the machine up for use.

Byrd said the machine's initial cost is not the great problem. "It's the chemicals required. It costs from $60 to $75 every time we set the machine in use," Byrd said.

The family encountered a problem upon arriving in Sikeston concerning chemicals. "I had a time getting supplies. I especially needed blood coagulate, and finally bought it from the hospital," after a doctor prescribed it, Byrd said.

Byrd's brother, George Byrd Jr., said Mrs. Byrd is awaiting a kidney transplant. "But her body has to be properly conditioned for this," he said. It has not been ascertained when the operation will take place.

According to the Kidney Foundation of Illinois, Mrs. Byrd is one of 18 persons in that state now using kidney machines at home. About 160 are getting treatment in Illinois hospitals.

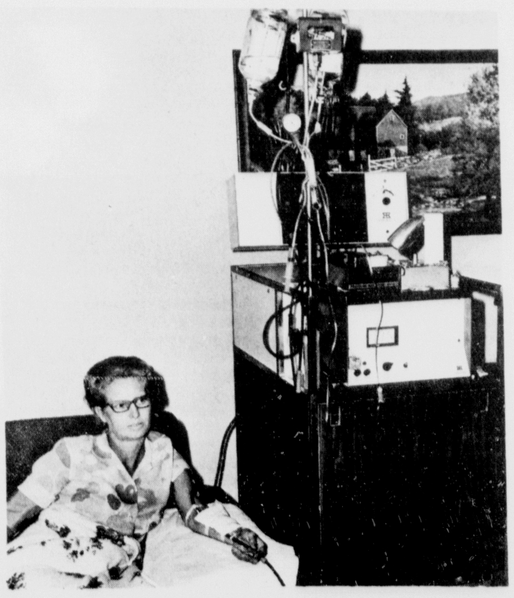
The Illinois department of public health is providing part or all of the money for treatment of 59 of these. Persons receiving treatments have paid $97,193; the balance of $532,000 was paid by the state.

Since many whose lives depend on the costly treatments have exhausted personal funds and insurance, the state will pay $607,000 for the year beginning July 1.

The foundation is seeking a budget to increase from $500,000 to $907,000 so treatment can be maid available to others who must have it or die.

The Byrd family plans to return home July 7 for work.

They said this is "one vacation" they have enjoyed.



MRS. MARY BYRD'S life depends on this machine that twice-weekly purifies her blood.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Wedding guests who throw old shoes at the bride and groom should be sure they come in pairs; the time may come when the couple will need them.

MEASURING VIET NAM COSTS

When the federal government's current fiscal year ends on Monday night, June 30, the United States officially will have poured out over the past five budgetary years more than $81 billion on "special Southeast Asia" military spending. It has cost U.S. taxpayers an average of $44.3 million per day over the five years to prosecute the war in Viet Nam.

How much is $81 billion when measured against various demographic data and compared with past government spending? Here are a few ways of looking at what otherwise is a mind- boggling figure: If the $81 billion were distributed equally among the 203 million men, women and children in the United States today, each would receive a check from the U.S. Treasury for $399.01. If distributed among the 26 million Americans estimated to be living under the "poverty line," each person would get a windfall of $3,115.38. For a poor family of four, the total would be $12,461.52.

It took the federal government 136 years -- from 1789 to 1925-- to spend its first $81 billion, and that included the costs of waging both the Civil War and World War I. Of course a dolllar went a long way in those days. Everyone accused the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt of wild spending. But from fiscal 1934 through fiscal 1941 the New Deal managed to spend just $68 billion, and part of that was the pre-Pearl Harbor military buildup.

The $81 billion spent so far on Viet Nam fighting can be measured in other ways. All currency in circulation in this country today totals no more than $50 billion. And if 81 billion one-dollar bills were placed end- to - end, they would form a chain 7.7 million miles long -- equivalent of 15 round trips between earth and moon.

REDHEADS BEWARE!

One of the most common summer maladies in sunburn. Nothing can ruin a vacation as quickly as overindulgence in sunbathing. Rare is the person fortunate enough to have missed the experience of too much of old sol's rays.

The American Medical Association and the American Red Cross have no accurate statistics on the number of cases of sunburn, since most cases are treated in the home. However, an article in Life magazine back in 1961 noted that some two to five million sunbathers each year acquired second- degree burns. And that figure has probably increased since then.

The unfortunate part of the problem is the simplicity of avoiding overexposure to the sun. Pfizer Company, the Un-Burn experts, are distributing a pocket -size leaflet with some handy tips for sun worshippers on how to avoid the misery of sunburn. The booklet is free. (Pfizer, 235 E. 42nd St., N.Y., N.Y. 10017).

One of the most interesting bits of information in the Un-Burn pamphlet is that readheads are the most "sun-sensitive" among us. They can take less sun than blondes, who can take less than brunettes." Now all of you gals who have cast envious eyes at the redhead in the brief swimsuit on the beach, have less cause for envy. That is unless the redhead has read the pamphlet and heeded its warnings.

Sunburn can be more than just irritating, and caution is important, especially during the first few sessions in the sun. Sunburn may not be apparent until 24 hours after it has been contracted, but the effects usually last three long days and nights. In fact, sunburn on your legs, which is the most uncomfortable, is often slower to heal.

Even after treatment with a sunburn antiseptic lotion, sunburn can still produce fever, chills and weakness. The Un-Burn experts say that if these become severe, you should seek medical care.

By the way, if you see me on the street, don't pat me on the back or shoulders, please. I was reading these tips in my backyard, fell asleep and got a slight burn.

"The $100 suit. Buying anyting for less is sheer extravagance."

The above headline answers most of the questions concerning the qualities of good advertising. It suggests what the best of advertising attempts to do.

Good advertising helps to educate the reader. It promises benefits which are not apparent. Good advertising sells a product on the basis of superior service to the consumer.

Suits may be purchased for $50 or $20. But are they really less expensive than bills. It may last longer than three $50 suits. And more important to many men, the better quality suit is worth more because it always assures a well dressed appearance. Quality cannot be over-worn.

Saving by spending more for quality is not limited to clothing. The rule applies to food, appliances, automobiles, housing and other consumer goods and services.

Market researchers have learned that many people who waste money on poor goods are not short of money. Consumers often have to be educated to accept high quality. It was a big step for our ancestors to adopt indoor plumbing long after it became practicable.

Today, millions of people win new money to spend could wisely invest in higher quality consumption. The change would result in better and more economical living. But it must be stimulated by persistent advertising on the part of sellers of quality goods and services.

LIKE KITTY, 'TEMPORARY' TAX GROWS TO CAT SIZE

"Ring out the old year; ring in the new," says Tax Foundation, Inc., noting that in 1968, as in other years, many a tax proposal that starts out on a "temporary" basis may wind up as a permanent levy.

As evidence, the research organization points out that a "temporary" three percent sales and use tax enacted in Massachusetts in 1966 - which was supposed to expire on December 31, 1967 - has been made permanent.

And, even before a "temporary" one-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax rate increase (from six cents to seven cents) in Idaho could take effect in January, the levy was made permanent. The "temporary" tax was supposed to expire December 31, 1969, and was calculated to bring in about $6 million.

As a permanent tax it can bring in more, for, as the Foundation points out, the Federal tax on gasoline started out - at the one cent per gallon - as a "temporary" proposition during the Depression.

That "temporary" tax has been on the books more than 35 years, the Foundation pointed out, has been increased several times (it is now four cents) and has grossed nearly $33 billion.

A U. S. Treasury report for fiscal 1933, shows that at the 1932 one-cent-a-gallon rate, collections amounted to about $125 million. The rate went up to one-and-a-half cents in 1933, backed down to one cent in 1934, and went back up to one-and-a-half cents in 1940 where it remained until 1951, when it became, then three cents in 1956 and four cents in 1959.

THE MISSING ASSET

We have always believed the national unemployment figures, like a lot of other statistics, should be taken with several large grains of salt as nearly anyone who has tried to employ competent help can testify. A part of the problem is indifference and a lack of will to work.

According to Oregon's News Digest, "In Los Angeles, an unemployed unskilled man rejected a job as a machine operator trainee with the remark, 'How do you expect a man to work for $1.70 an hour?' . . . In Detroit, where even unskilled workers can earn about $3.60 an hour, unemployment stands at 6 per cent while employers are unable to find badly needed low-skilled workers. At a restaurant, a man turned down $75 a week because he could get $56 of tax free relief money by just staying home, and, moreover, could save the cost of getting to and from the job."

The Achilles' heel of a welfare state is that it leads to a breed of people that dissipate a nation's most valuable asset -- the will to work.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson say: Military spending under attack; Rivers block criticism of military-industrial complex; Administration moves to protect the establishment

WASHINGTON--It takes place behind closed doors where the public can't watch it, but congressmen who have been ladling out the military boodle without challenge are suddenly encountering criticism from the most unexpected sources.

For example, a Wall Street banker who had served as an Assistant Secretary of the Navy under the late President Eisenhower startled the house military appropriations subcommittee the other day with his frank remarks.

Distinguished looking J. Sinclair Armstrong declared behind closed doors: "The national economy is endangered by the excessive defense and space spending. Such a large proportion of our economic effort--10 per cent of the gross national product--is going into non-productive activity. The effect of this is destabilizing to a free economy."

Chairman George Mahon acted as though a burr had been placed under him. The lanky Texan, stirring angrily in his chair, accused Armstrong of "undermining" the Paris Peace talks. He wouldn't let him finish his prepared statement.

Armstrong, the executive-Vice-President of the United States trust company, had been prepared to offer chapter and verse on the damaging effect of high military spending on inflation, wage rates, housing, taxes, exports and interest rates.

His undelivered statement would have warned the military spenders: "There is beginning to be felt a considerable body of responsible business opinion that, unless the Vietnam War is promptly ended and unnecessary defense spending curtailed, wages and prices will have to be frozen and vital materials allocated."

--War Vs. Cities--

It was also behind closed doors that a small group of Pentagon apologists, led by Rep. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., recently blocked approval of resolution criticizing the "Military-Industrial Complex."

The resolution, offered by Rep. Don Fraser, D-Minn., at a caucus of House Democrats, deplored military "waste" and extravagance and urged a revision of federal priorities in order to provide more money for urgan problems. Whereupon a Rivers ally, Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., promptly offered a retaliatory measure condemning "Domestic waste."

Action on both was deferred after a long argument, during which Fraser told his fellow Democrats that they should put their house in order for the 1970 elections by taking a "unified position against unreasonable expenditures by the military."

Rivers hotly disagreed. He contended that the percentage of defense spending in the federal budget waas "Not great" and was "Vital" to National Security. Congress he maintained, should cut down on domestic public works projects which, he said, had greatly "escalated" in cost.

"That's the gentleman's opinion," declared Fraser. "He's not interested in solving the problems of our major cities, which are escalating all the time. We don't need the ABM and some of this advanced aircraft now involved in scandalous cost overruns. We do need money for our cities."

"I wouldn't advise anyone to expect that the federal government will divert massive sums to the cities following the war in Vietnam," argued Rivers. "There will be strong public demands for tax reduction after we get out of Vietnam."

Rivers received potent support for postponement of action on the Fraser resolution from Rep. George Mahon, chairman of the appropriations committee, who said that the net effect of the resolution, if adopted, would be the "admission of errors by the past administration."

"We should be trying to improve the stature of the Democratic party for the next election," declared Mahon. "If we adopt this resolution he will not be putting our best foot forward."

--Maverick Republican--

The Nixon administration is determined to revamp the federal communications commission and weed out all members who challenge the establishment. To this end it has quietly kicked upstairs commissioner Jerry Wadsworth, son of one of the great Republican Senators of the last generation, Jim Wadsworth of New

Reason for Wadsworth's exit is that he voted to remove the channel 5 license from the Chief Republican paper of New England, the Bost on Herald Traveler.

This station was embroiled in a lobbying scandal in the days of Sherman Adams, when he and Sinclair weeks, former Secretary of Commerce, had pulled wires to award this TV channel to the Republican newspaper rather than independent interests in Boston.

Commissioner Wadsworth lined up with liberal democrats to vote lagainst the entrenched GOP interests in Boston. So he has been persuaded to take a job as assistant to Ex-Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, now head of the International Conference of Communications Satellites.

THE ARAB-ISRAELI TRAGEDY

BEIRUT--The American plane from Tehran to Beirut takes a most peculiar route--west almost to Ankara, south to the tip of Cyprus, then southeast to the Lebanese coast.

It is a break for the unhurried traveler, much more beautiful than the dull drag over Bagdad and across the Syrian desert. For the snowy ridges of eastern Turkey are rarely visited by groundlings and Mount Ararat shows whitely against the Russian border. But it costs 40 minutes of flying time.

SINCE the israelis clobbered the Arabs in the six-day war of June, 1967, U.S. planes have been denied Iraqi and Syrian air space. America, more than any other country, is regarded as the creator and protector of Israel.

The Russians, although they, too, ratified the creation of Israel, long ago decided that Russian strategy would be better served by making friends with Arabs than with Jews.

The Arab lands extend across Asia from south Russia to the sea. They contain the world's greatest known reserves of oil. They provide the answer to Russia's ancient dream of ice-free ports, for already Red naval bases are established at Alexandria, Port Said and Latakia. And nearly every coup in the turbulent Arab world has strengthened the leftist parties.

IN CONTRAST, the United States, once the most popular country among the Arabs, is now the most hated. We lost the friendship of the Middle East at the moment it began to be important to us. And we fell into this colossal diplomatic error quite innocently.

The establishment of a national home for the homeless European remnants of Nazi tyranny seemed logical. We bought the Zionist assurance, in spite of misgivings of the wiser and more experienced British, that after a period of anger the Arabs would come to accept, if not welcome, a small industrial state that could add to the prosperity of the entire region.

No one in Washington seems to have forecast the fierce, if futile, Arab wars, the nagging problem of the refugees. No one dreamed that little Israel would become a military giant, partly because of Israeli heroism and genius for organization and partly because of huge remittances from America under the United Jewish Appeal.

THE brilliant Israeli victory in the 1967 war should have toppled Nasser who invited it. A few days before, he had closed the Gul of Aqaba, mobilized his army and loudly boasted of the early end of Israel. He was one of history's best-licked braggarts.

There was even a chance, if a dim one, that had the Israeli government quickly offered to withdraw from its conquests under international guarantees for demilitarized borders and free access to waterways some accomodation might have been reached.

The moment passed. Peace, if it comes, must be imposed by pressure of the Big Powers. But the Russians are of no mind to force any conditions on the Arabs except a vague promise of nonaggression. And the Arab claim that if the Israelis dismantle their government they can live peacefully under Arab rule is justly suspect. The bitterness is too deep.

WHAT is most dangerous to Israel is the slow erosion of the world's sympathy toward it. The "mistaken" rocketing of our spy ship, the USS Liberty, that resulted in the death of 45 Americans didn't help. Israeli commando attacks that blew up power installations deep inside Egypt and destroyed 13 planes on the Beirut airport have not only convinced Arabs that they are in growing danger of Israeli aggression but have cooled some of Israel's old friends.

When Israeli Vice Consul Uri Barner went to New Delhi last month to present a wreath honoring the late Indian president, Zakir Husein, he wasn't even allowed to attend the funeral.

THE Arab world thrills to the Fedayeen of Jordan. Many Arab soldiers, to put it gently, have a highly developed sense of self-preservation. But the Fedayeen are different. These "freedom fighters" take heavy losses in the highest traditions of Muslim fanaticism.

If their methods are rough, their admirers point out that they are no rougher than those of the Stern Gang and the Irgun, which murdered Count Folke Bernadotte, slaughtered all the inhabitants of Deir-Yassin and were toasted at Zionist banquets from New York City to Hollywood.

A Greek tragedy is one in which two opponents, neither of them villainous and both totally self-justified, are driven by accident or misconception into deadly combat.

The obliteration of Israel, which has been a state now for an entire generation, would be a disaster. And the Arabs point out that the persecution of Jews, which provided the rationale for setting up Israel in the first place, was the fault not of Arabs but of European Christians.

Unless the Big Powers can find some formula that will force Israel to disgorge most of her recent conquests and the Arabs to guarantee her sovereign rights, there will be strike and counterstrike to some disastrous end.

FINANCING COLLEGE NOW
By Sylvia Porter

Let's say your youngest son has been accepted as a college freshman for the fall term. Let's say too that your family income is just a bit too high and his marks are just a bit too low for him to qualify for a scholarship — and with your two older girls also in college, you're in a hideous squeeze. Finally, let's say that your son has been turned down flat by every institution to which he has applied for a 7 per cent guaranteed student loan.

This could be you. For it is and will be true of hundreds of thousands of parents and youngsters the nation over in the weeks directly ahead, unless Congress makes it far more attractive than it now is for lenders to use their rationed funds for Federal-state guaranteed loans to students from middle-income families.

Since what Congress will do (if anything) is exceedingly vague right now, I'll assume you, the freshman, have been rebuffed on a guaranteed loan and you're desperate about money for college. Here are other moves you can try:

(1) Consult the student financial aid officer at the school at which you have been accepted. Ask if you can qualify for ANY other loan or scholarship or job program aimed at lower rather than middle-income families. Financial assistance through such programs is generally granted on the basis of "adjusted" family income and such factors as the number of other college age children your family must support are carefully weighed.

(2) Try to find out, if you are a business school student, whether the school you plan to attend has made or is negotiating any special arrangement with ny of the local banks to make special loans to its students. Quite a few business schools have arranged this with banks, often giving the school's account in exchange.

(3) Re-check the terms of other Federal scholarship - loan - work programs for lower income college - business - vocational students.

The big ones are: Educational Opportunity Grants ranging from $200 to $1,000 a year for up to four years of undergraduate study for students with "exceptional" financial need; National Defense Student loans of up to $1,000 a year for undergraduate study and up to $2,500 a year for graduate or professional study with repayment of principal plus 3 per cent interest a year beginning nine months after graduation and lasting up to 10 years; the College Work-Study program offering part-time paying jobs, primarily to needy students, but often to less needy students as well.

(4) Look into the latest array of educational assistance programs for veterans and their children. The main programs are the post-Korea "GI bill" which pays $130 a month to full-time students, proportionately less to part-time students (plus modest allowances for dependents): and the "Junior GI bill," for children aged 18-26 of veterans who died or were totally disabled during military service.

(5) Check into the fact that Social Security benefits are payable to any full-time student attending an accredited high school, college or vocational school who is an unmarried child of a retired, deceased or disabled worker, until age 22.

Well over 400,000 students are getting such benefits each year, so if you think you may qualify, go at once to your local Social Security office.

Four years and four months end on the morning of July 7, 1971.

If he gets instant parole, he could get to Las Vegas in time to sweep down the aisle, stride across the stage, take the gavel from the $86,250-a-year General Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons, his one-man caretaker government.

Mr. Hoffa still is the Teamsters Brotherhood $100,000-a-year general president. You can wager your mortgage he will be reelected.

So, he works hard in Lewisburg's financial production center. He makes parts of furniture for the government, metal furniture for the navy and mattresses for Prison Industries, Inc. And he is his own lawyer, as usual.

On June 18, U.S. marshals walked him out of prison to a van, handcuffed him and drove to Chicago — first, dropping off a prisoner in Pittsburgh, another in Detroit, and then on to a county jail, arriving on June 19. There he is now coaching his lawyers — though one of them is Morris Shenker of St. Louis, who has defended many a criminal.

General President Hoffa is expected to appear in federal court on July 7. There counsel will argue during the rehearsing ordered by the Supreme Court that the evidence used against him was tainted by illegal wiretapping and eavesdropping.

Hoffa and company are confident they'll get a new trial — and are hopeful the Justice Dept. will decide not to prosecute him again. But that's not his sustaining passion. If he gets a ruling that the evidence here was tainted, he believes it should be comparatively easy to win a similar retrial in Chatanooga in mid-August.

If the government does decide to retry him, he will probably go free on bond.

If all this develops, Hoffa is home safe. If not, there is the final discipline — being a model prisoner. He will be, for he is the shrewdest of gamblers — he never takes a chance. He wants the instant parole. And it's only two years off.

Of course, if the Parole Board doesn't take kindly to the idea, he'll go the route — nine years.

The stakes are big in this script — the world's biggest union.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Wedding guests who throw old shoes at the bride and groom should be sure they come in pairs; the time may come when the couple will need them.

MEASURING VIET NAM COSTS

When the federal government's current fiscal year ends on Monday night, June 30, the United States officially will have poured out over the past five budgetary years more than $81 billion on "special Southeast Asia" military spending. It has cost U.S. taxpayers an average of $44.3 million per day over the five years to prosecute the war in Viet Nam.

How much is $81 billion when measured against various demographic data and compared with past government spending? Here are a few ways of looking at what otherwise is a mind- boggling figure: If the $81 billion were distributed equally among the 203 million men, women and children in the United States today, each would receive a check from the U.S. Treasury for $399.01. If distributed among the 26 million Americans estimated to be living under the "poverty line," each person would get a windfall of $3,115.38. For a poor family of four, the total would be $12,461.52.

It took the federal government 136 years -- from 1789 to 1925-- to spend its first $81 billion, and that included the costs of waging both the Civil War and World War I. Of course a dolllar went a long way in those days. Everyone accused the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt of wild spending. But from fiscal 1934 through fiscal 1941 the New Deal managed to spend just $68 billion, and part of that was the pre-Pearl Harbor military buildup.

The $81 billion spent so far on Viet Nam fighting can be measured in other ways. All currency in circulation in this country today totals no more than $50 billion. And if 81 billion one-dollar bills were placed end- to - end, they would form a chain 7.7 million miles long -- equivalent of 15 round trips between earth and moon.

REDHEADS BEWARE!

One of the most common summer maladies in sunburn. Nothing can ruin a vacation as quickly as overindulgence in sunbathing. Rare is the person fortunate enough to have missed the experience of too much of old sol's rays.

The American Medical Association and the American Red Cross have no accurate statistics on the number of cases of sunburn, since most cases are treated in the home. However, an article in Life magazine back in 1961 noted that some two to five million sunbathers each year acquired second- degree burns. And that figure has probably increased since then.

The unfortunate part of the problem is the simplicity of avoiding overexposure to the sun. Pfizer Company, the Un-Burn experts, are distributing a pocket -size leaflet with some handy tips for sun worshippers on how to avoid the misery of sunburn. The booklet is free. (Pfizer, 235 E. 42nd St., N.Y., N.Y. 10017).

One of the most interesting bits of information in the Un-Burn pamphlet is that readheads are the most "sun-sensitive" among us. They can take less sun than blondes, who can take less than brunettes." Now all of you gals who have cast envious eyes at the redhead in the brief swimsuit on the beach, have less cause for envy. That is unless the redhead has read the pamphlet and heeded its warnings.

Sunburn can be more than just irritating, and caution is important, especially during the first few sessions in the sun. Sunburn may not be apparent until 24 hours after it has been contracted, but the effects usually last three long days and nights. In fact, sunburn on your legs, which is the most uncomfortable, is often slower to heal.

Even after treatment with a sunburn antiseptic lotion, sunburn can still produce fever, chills and weakness. The Un-Burn experts say that if these become severe, you should seek medical care.

By the way, if you see me on the street, don't pat me on the back or shoulders, please. I was reading these tips in my backyard, fell asleep and got a slight burn.

"The $100 suit. Buying anyting for less is sheer extravagance."

The above headline answers most of the questions concerning the qualities of good advertising. It suggests what the best of advertising attempts to do.

Good advertising helps to educate the reader. It promises benefits which are not apparent. Good advertising sells a product on the basis of superior service to the consumer.

Suits may be purchased for $50 or $20. But are they really less expensive than bills. It may last longer than three $50 suits. And more important to many men, the better quality suit is worth more because it always assures a well dressed appearance. Quality cannot be over-worn.

Saving by spending more for quality is not limited to clothing. The rule applies to food, appliances, automobiles, housing and other consumer goods and services.

Market researchers have learned that many people who waste money on poor goods are not short of money. Consumers often have to be educated to accept high quality. It was a big step for our ancestors to adopt indoor plumbing long after it became practicable.

Today, millions of people win new money to spend could wisely invest in higher quality consumption. The change would result in better and more economical living. But it must be stimulated by persistent advertising on the part of sellers of quality goods and services.

LIKE KITTY, 'TEMPORARY' TAX GROWS TO CAT SIZE

"Ring out the old year; ring in the new," says Tax Foundation, Inc., noting that in 1968, as in other years, many a tax proposal that starts out on a "temporary" basis may wind up as a permanent levy.

As evidence, the research organization points out that a "temporary" three percent sales and use tax enacted in Massachusetts in 1966 - which was supposed to expire on December 31, 1967 - has been made permanent.

And, even before a "temporary" one-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax rate increase (from six cents to seven cents) in Idaho could take effect in January, the levy was made permanent. The "temporary" tax was supposed to expire December 31, 1969, and was calculated to bring in about $6 million.

As a permanent tax it can bring in more, for, as the Foundation points out, the Federal tax on gasoline started out - at the one cent per gallon - as a "temporary" proposition during the Depression.

That "temporary" tax has been on the books more than 35 years, the Foundation pointed out, has been increased several times (it is now four cents) and has grossed nearly $33 billion.

A U. S. Treasury report for fiscal 1933, shows that at the 1932 one-cent-a-gallon rate, collections amounted to about $125 million. The rate went up to one-and-a-half cents in 1933, backed down to one cent in 1934, and went back up to one-and-a-half cents in 1940 where it remained until 1951, when it became, then three cents in 1956 and four cents in 1959.

THE MISSING ASSET

We have always believed the national unemployment figures, like a lot of other statistics, should be taken with several large grains of salt as nearly anyone who has tried to employ competent help can testify. A part of the problem is indifference and a lack of will to work.

According to Oregon's News Digest, "In Los Angeles, an unemployed unskilled man rejected a job as a machine operator trainee with the remark, 'How do you expect a man to work for $1.70 an hour?' . . . In Detroit, where even unskilled workers can earn about $3.60 an hour, unemployment stands at 6 per cent while employers are unable to find badly needed low-skilled workers. At a restaurant, a man turned down $75 a week because he could get $56 of tax free relief money by just staying home, and, moreover, could save the cost of getting to and from the job."

The Achilles' heel of a welfare state is that it leads to a breed of people that dissipate a nation's most valuable asset -- the will to work.

When Israeli Vice Consul Uri Barner went to New Delhi last month to present a wreath honoring the late Indian president, Zakir Husein, he wasn't even allowed to attend the funeral.

THE Arab world thrills to the Fedayeen of Jordan. Many Arab soldiers, to put it gently, have a highly developed sense of self-preservation. But the Fedayeen are different. These "freedom fighters" take heavy losses in the highest traditions of Muslim fanaticism.

If their methods are rough, their admirers point out that they are no rougher than those of the Stern Gang and the Irgun, which murdered Count Folke Bernadotte, slaughtered all the inhabitants of Deir-Yassin and were toasted at Zionist banquets from New York City to Hollywood.

A Greek tragedy is one in which two opponents, neither of them villainous and both totally self-justified, are driven by accident or misconception into deadly combat.

The obliteration of Israel, which has been a state now for an entire generation, would be a disaster. And the Arabs point out that the persecution of Jews, which provided the rationale for setting up Israel in the first place, was the fault not of Arabs but of European Christians.

Unless the Big Powers can find some formula that will force Israel to disgorge most of her recent conquests and the Arabs to guarantee her sovereign rights, there will be strike and counterstrike to some disastrous end.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson say: Military spending under attack; Rivers block criticism of military-industrial complex; Administration moves to protect the establishment

WASHINGTON--It takes place behind closed doors where the public can't watch it, but congressmen who have been ladling out the military boodle without challenge are suddenly encountering criticism from the most unexpected sources.

For example, a Wall Street banker who had served as an Assistant Secretary of the Navy under the late President Eisenhower startled the house military appropriations subcommittee the other day with his frank remarks.

Distinguished looking J. Sinclair Armstrong declared behind closed doors: "The national economy is endangered by the excessive defense and space spending. Such a large proportion of our economic effort--10 per cent of the gross national product--is going into non-productive activity. The effect of this is destabilizing to a free economy."

Chairman George Mahon acted as though a burr had been placed under him. The lanky Texan, stirring angrily in his chair, accused Armstrong of "undermining" the Paris Peace talks. He wouldn't let him finish his prepared statement.

Armstrong, the executive-Vice-President of the United States trust company, had been prepared to offer chapter and verse on the damaging effect of high military spending on inflation, wage rates, housing, taxes, exports and interest rates.

His undelivered statement would have warned the military spenders: "There is beginning to be felt a considerable body of responsible business opinion that, unless the Vietnam War is promptly ended and unnecessary defense spending curtailed, wages and prices will have to be frozen and vital materials allocated."

But Armstrong never got the words out. Chairman Mahon wouldn't let him talk.

--War Vs. Cities--

It was also behind closed doors that a small group of Pentagon apologists, led by Rep. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., recently blocked approval of resolution criticizing the "Military-Industrial Complex."

The resolution, offered by Rep. Don Fraser, D-Minn., at a caucus of House Democrats, deplored military "waste" and extravagance and urged a revision of federal priorities in order to provide more money for urgan problems. Whereupon a Rivers ally, Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., promptly offered a retaliatory measure condemning "Domestic waste."

Action on both was deferred after a long argument, during which Fraser told his fellow Democrats that they should put their house in order for the 1970 elections by taking a "unified position against unreasonable expenditures by the military."

Rivers hotly disagreed. He contended that the percentage of defense spending in the federal budget waas "Not great" and was "Vital" to National Security. Congress he maintained, should cut down on domestic public works projects which, he said, had greatly "escalated" in cost.

"That's the gentleman's opinion," declared Fraser. "He's not interested in solving the problems of our major cities, which are escalating all the time. We don't need the ABM and some of this advanced aircraft now involved in scandalous cost overruns. We do need money for our cities."

"I wouldn't advise anyone to expect that the federal government will divert massive sums to the cities following the war in Vietnam," argued Rivers. "There will be strong public demands for tax reduction after we get out of Vietnam."

Rivers received potent support for postponement of action on the Fraser resolution from Rep. George Mahon, chairman of the appropriations committee, who said that the net effect of the resolution, if adopted, would be the "admission of errors by the past administration."

"We should be trying to improve the stature of the Democratic party for the next election," declared Mahon. "If we adopt this resolution he will not be putting our best foot forward."

--Maverick Republican--

The Nixon administration is determined to revamp the federal communications commission and weed out all members who challenge the establishment. To this end it has quietly kicked upstairs commissioner Jerry Wadsworth, son of one of the great Republican Senators of the last generation, Jim Wadsworth of New

Reason for Wadsworth's exit is that he voted to remove the channel 5 license from the Chief Republican paper of New England, the Bost on Herald Traveler.

This station was embroiled in a lobbying scandal in the days of Sherman Adams, when he and Sinclair weeks, former Secretary of Commerce, had pulled wires to award this TV channel to the Republican newspaper rather than independent interests in Boston.

Commissioner Wadsworth lined up with liberal democrats to vote lagainst the entrenched GOP interests in Boston. So he has been persuaded to take a job as assistant to Ex-Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, now head of the International Conference of Communications Satellites.

FINANCING COLLEGE NOW

By Sylvia Porter

Let's say your youngest son has been accepted as a college freshman for the fall term. Let's say too that your family income is just a bit too high and his marks are just a bit too low for him to qualify for a scholarship — and with your two older girls also in college, you're in a hideous squeeze. Finally, let's say that your son has been turned down flat by every institution to which he has applied for a 7 per cent guaranteed student loan.

This could be you. For it is and will be true of hundreds of thousands of parents and youngsters the nation over in the weeks directly ahead, unless Congress makes it far more attractive than it now is for lenders to use their rationed funds for Federal-state guaranteed loans to students from middle-income families.

Since what Congress will do (if anything) is exceedingly vague right now, I'll assume you, the freshman, have been rebuffed on a guaranteed loan and you're desperate about money for college. Here are other moves you can try:

(1) Consult the student financial aid officer at the school at which you have been accepted. Ask if you can qualify for ANY other loan or scholarship or job program aimed at lower rather than middle-income families. Financial assistance through such programs is generally granted on the basis of "adjusted" family income and such factors as the number of other college age children your family must support are carefully weighed.

(2) Try to find out, if you are a business school student, whether the school you plan to attend has made or is negotiating any special arrangement with ny of the local banks to make special loans to its students. Quite a few business schools have arranged this with banks, often giving the school's account in exchange.

(3) Re-check the terms of other Federal scholarship - loan - work programs for lower income college - business - vocational students.

The big ones are: Educational Opportunity Grants ranging from $200 to $1,000 a year for up to four years of undergraduate study for students with "exceptional" financial need; National Defense Student loans of up to $1,000 a year for undergraduate study and up to $2,500 a year for graduate or professional study with repayment of principal plus 3 per cent interest a year beginning nine months after graduation and lasting up to 10 years; the College Work-Study program offering part-time paying jobs, primarily to needy students, but often to less needy students as well.

(4) Look into the latest array of educational assistance programs for veterans and their children. The main programs are the post-Korea "GI bill" which pays $130 a month to full-time students, proportionately less to part-time students (plus modest allowances for dependents): and the "Junior GI bill," for children aged 18-26 of veterans who died or were totally disabled during military service.

(5) Check into the fact that Social Security benefits are payable to any full-time student attending an accredited high school, college or vocational school who is an unmarried child of a retired, deceased or disabled worker, until age 22.

Well over 400,000 students are getting such benefits each year, so if you think you may qualify, go at once to your local Social Security office.

Four years and four months end on the morning of July 7, 1971.

If he gets instant parole, he could get to Las Vegas in time to sweep down the aisle, stride across the stage, take the gavel from the $86,250-a-year General Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons, his one-man caretaker government.

Mr. Hoffa still is the Teamsters Brotherhood $100,000-a-year general president. You can wager your mortgage he will be reelected.

So, he works hard in Lewisburg's financial production center. He makes parts of furniture for the government, metal furniture for the navy and mattresses for Prison Industries, Inc. And he is his own lawyer, as usual.

On June 18, U.S. marshals walked him out of prison to a van, handcuffed him and drove to Chicago — first, dropping off a prisoner in Pittsburgh, another in Detroit, and then on to a county jail, arriving on June 19. There he is now coaching his lawyers — though one of them is Morris Shenker of St. Louis, who has defended many a criminal.

General President Hoffa is expected to appear in federal court on July 7. There counsel will argue during the rehearsing ordered by the Supreme Court that the evidence used against him was tainted by illegal wiretapping and eavesdropping.

Hoffa and company are confident they'll get a new trial — and are hopeful the Justice Dept. will decide not to prosecute him again. But that's not his sustaining passion. If he gets a ruling that the evidence here was tainted, he believes it should be comparatively easy to win a similar retrial in Chatanooga in mid-August.

If the government does decide to retry him, he will probably go free on bond.

If all this develops, Hoffa is home safe. If not, there is the final discipline — being a model prisoner. He will be, for he is the shrewdest of gamblers — he never takes a chance. He wants the instant parole. And it's only two years off.

Of course, if the Parole Board doesn't take kindly to the idea, he'll go the route — nine years.

The stakes are big in this script — the world's biggest union.

Ann Landers

Mom Upset By Girl's Wardrobe

Dear Ann Landers: If anyone can help me you can. Please try.

Our daughter is 18, pretty, and a nice girl, but you wouldn't know it by looking at her. Tessa gets herself up like a tramp. I don't mean hippie clothes, but more like a streetwalker, you might say.

Tessa piles on the makeup, not one row of false eyelashes but two. Her father says she looks as if she is wearing brushes on her eyelids. And this is not enough. She paints lower lashes on her face.

The skirts are skin tight and micro-mini. The hose are psychedlic shades of purple, pink and orange -- or dead white, which is worse. Her shoes are clumpy and unflattering. They look like gunboats, with bows yet.

I've offered to shop with Tessa and buy anything she sees that is decent and half-way conventional. She isn't interested. She has been getting an allowance and selecting her own clothes since she was 16, and insists on continuing to do so. What can I say? What can I do? -- Out Of Touch

Dear Out: You can express your opinion -- and you have. Beyond that there is little you can or should do. So bite your tongue, clench your fists, and say nothing. These are the external trappings of those who feel the need to do their thing. Time is you best ally, mom. Before you know it, Tessa will be wringing her hands over the way her daughter looks.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a mother who is writing about a father-son hassle that promises to get worse.

We have three teen-agers, a girl and two boys -- all good kids. They have never been in trouble and we are proud of them. The 17-year-old boy is having a serious problem with his father. Ty has always been a good baseball player and his Dad has loved basking in his reflected glory. This year Ty has decided he doesn't want to play ball. His Dad hit the roof. He tried everything, including bribery, but the boy says he has lost interest.

As punishment for Ty's "stubborness" his father has threatened to sell the boy's car. Ty paid for the car himself but it's in his father's name. I think it would be cruel to do this and I've said so. My husband insists Ty doesn't want to play ball anymore because he'd rather run around with hoodlums and chase girls. I don't believe this is true.

What should be done? --- Trouble Brewing

Dear Trouble: No boy should be forced to participate in a sport if he has lost interest in it. To punish the boy by selling his car would be unjust. I suggest that a third party (clergyman, friendly lawyer or doctor) listen to both father and son and act as an impartial judge.

Confidential To Imposed On By A Distant Relative: In this day and age there is no such thing as a "distant" relative. They can all be on your doorstep within hours. Make it plain. The next time they show up, tell them you cannot accomodate them but you'll be glad to help them get a room in a nearby hotel or motel.

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage -- What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Benton Church To Celebrate Centennial

An all-day church service with a picnic on the grounds and quartet music by the Wentzville Crusaders will be Sunday at the Benton Unity Baptist Church centennial celebration. The Rev. Dale Huff will preach.

The Unity Baptist Church was organized in 1869, originally called the "Cross Plains" Baptist Church. The building burned in 1894. A tornado damaged the new building in 1944, repairs were made and it was used until 1947. The present building was built with Sunday School facilities and dedicated in 1947.

Speech Clinic On Trial

BY SUSAN SHEMWELL

"We could schedule speech therapy 24 hours a day and still not see everyone in Mississippi county who needs correction," Terry Rowe, Mississippi County summer speech correctionist said.

Rowe has not had time to frame his new diploma from Southeast Missouri State College, but he is tackling the speech correction problem with the efficiency of an old professional and the vigor of a young man. He is cooperation with the Missouri Easter Seal Society and the Mississippi County Health Department setting up a summer speech therapy program for children and adults in the county with language or speech problems.

Mississippi County has one of the first programs in the Easter Seal Society's plan to set up speech correction clinics in the southern 52 counties of Missouri.

"The county does not have a greater need for speech correction than neighboring counties," Rowe said. "It was just one of the counties in south Missouri that had no speech program at all." Scott Co. has one full-time speech therapist and three temporary student therapists in the Sikeston Regional Diagnostic Clinic staff to correct some of the most evident problems. Stoddard Co. has a mobile speech and hearing unit in Dexter, Rowe said.

Terry Rowe uses tape recorders, records," reading exercises for adults, picture identification and games for children in which the correct sound must be pronounced before the child can

TEMPLE OF UNDERSTANDING

SPIRITUAL SUMMIT CONFERENCE NO. 4

Dr. Amiya Chakravarty, professor of the philosophies of Japan, China and India at State University of New York, New Paltz, N. Y., was part of the Hindu delegation at the spiritual Summit Conference in Calcutta, India, sponsored by the Temple of Understanding headquartered in Washington, D.C. Eleven of the world's great religions participated.

Dr. Chakravarty has deep insight into both Eastern and Western faiths. He was educated and received his doctorate at Oxford University and has taught in many U.S. colleges. For seven years he was secretary to Rabindranath Tagore, the great Indian poet, philosopher and religious teacher. He was a constant companion of Mahatma Gandhi during the last two years of that great leader's life.

Dr. Chakravarty found in the Spiritual Summit Conference a concept of universal humanity, with a common ground in the deepest traditions of all religions. Dr. Chakravarty feels that the unity of all religions can be maintained because of their uniqueness and a common bond of faith.

He says, "The mystery of religion is a subtle relationship. It binds not by indoctrination but by emancipation . . . the door has already been opened in the Temple of Understanding for the understanding and cooperation of all religions." It can do much to cure the ills of mankind.

Speech Clinic On Trial

BY SUSAN SHEMWELL

"We could schedule speech therapy 24 hours a day and still not see everyone in Mississippi county who needs correction," Terry Rowe, Mississippi County summer speech correctionist said.

Rowe has not had time to frame his new diploma from Southeast Missouri State College, but he is tackling the speech correction problem with the efficiency of an old professional and the vigor of a young man. He is cooperation with the Missouri Easter Seal Society and the Mississippi County Health Department setting up a summer speech therapy program for children and adults in the county with language or speech problems.

Mississippi County has one of the first programs in the Easter Seal Society's plan to set up speech correction clinics in the southern 52 counties of Missouri.

"The county does not have a greater need for speech correction than neighboring counties," Rowe said. "It was just one of the counties in south Missouri that had no speech program at all." Scott Co. has one full-time speech therapist and three temporary student therapists in the Sikeston Regional Diagnostic Clinic staff to correct some of the most evident problems. Stoddard Co. has a mobile speech and hearing unit in Dexter, Rowe said.

Terry Rowe uses tape recorders, records, reading exercises for adults, picture identification and games for children in which the correct sound must be pronounced before the child can

SPIRITUAL SUMMIT CONFERENCE NO. 4
Dr. Amiya Chakravarty, professor of the philosophies of Japan, China and India at State University of New York, New Paltz, N. Y., was part of the Hindu delegation at the spiritual Summit Conference in Calcutta, India, sponsored by the Temple of Understanding headquartered in Washington, D.C. Eleven of the world's great religions participated.
Dr. Chakravarty has deep insight into both Eastern and Western faiths. He was educated and received his doctorate at Oxford University and has taught in many U.S. colleges. For seven years he was secretary to Rabindranath Tagore, the great Indian poet, philosopher and religious teacher. He was a constant companion of Mahatma Gandhi during the last two years of that great leader's life.
Dr. Chakravarty found in the Spiritual Summit Conference a concept of universal humanity, with a common ground in the deepest traditions of all religions. Dr. Chakravarty feels that the unity of all religions can be maintained because of their uniqueness and a common bond of faith.
He says, "The mystery of religion is a subtle relationship. It binds not by indoctrination but by emancipation . . . the door has already been opened in the Temple of Understanding for the understanding and cooperation of all religions." It can do much to cure the ills of mankind.

Madrid Takes Over

New Madrid took over sole possession of first place in the Babe Ruth standings of the New Madrid County League with its 13-6 win over Parma last night.

Lilbourn moved into a tie for second with the losers. It posted an 11-1 victory over Risco behind Pat McClarty's pitching and hitting.

McClarty collected 13 strike outs, bombed a grand slam home run nd scored three times, accounting for seven of the teams 11 runs.

Tommy Maschmeyer and Mitchell Allen had two hits apiece for the winners, who won the game in five innings.

The New Madrid -Parma game was a wild scoring battle, that saw the eventual winners open the game with the pair of runs only to see Parma roar back in the second with five tallies on four hits, including a home run by Wendall Wagner, before the winners addes six tallies in the third and four in the fifth.

Errors and bases on balls were Parma's biggest trouble as it out-hit the host 9-6.

Wagner and Dick Ramsey had perfect night at the plate, with Wagner going three for three and Ramsey two for two.

Mark Baker collected the win for New Madrid and was the team's leading hitter with a three for four showing, including a double.

In Little League action, New Madrid posted a 5-4 win behind Ellick Brown's pitching and Lilbourn took an 8-7 win over Risco on Ricky Blankenship's homer in the sixth, his second of the game.

League play continues Tuesday.

Shutout Highlights Softball League Play

By DALE A. LEWIS

Bank of Sikston's Don Kern for the second time in as many games, led his team to victory last night at City Park, pitching a 7 to 0 shutout at Barkett's Big Star.

Kern gave up only two infield singles to the Big Star nine while allowing just three baserunners, none of which advanced past first.

While Kern was setting down Barkett's in order four out of the seven innings he pitched, his teammates were pounding out nine hits for seven runs.

The big blows of the game came off the bat of J. Burden who doubled home a run in the second and parked in a two-run shot over the left centerfield fence in the fourth.

Burden also singled in the sixth to complete a perfect 3 for 3 night at the plate. J. Dyer, D. Mulcahy, and Don Kern drove home the other four Bank of Sikeston runs.

On the Barkett's side of the ledger, J. Chesser wasted a single to deep second in the second inning and J. Bradley bunted safely in the sixth for Barkett's only two hits. Jerry Kelley reached base in the seventh on an error by the shortstop, for the only other Big Star baserunner.

Pitching was practically non-existent in the second game last night, as the Budweisers hung on for a 12 to 9 win over Sikeston Motor Company.

Ten fielding errors spelled defeat for Sikeston Motor as they outhit the Budweiser nine, 11 to 9.

Four errors in the first two innings allowed the Budweisers to tally single runs in each inning without the benefit of a basehit. Then the Buds found the range as Fred Steward, Bobby Kindle, Don Agnew,Ron Borders, Ken Hawkins, Ron Voss, and Ray Lasters accounted for the 12 runs, via basehits and reaching base by way of errors.

Mike Sherry hit a double and a triple in three trips to the plate, Kindle went 3 for 4, and Ron Voss hit two singles in two trips to lead the Bud's hit parade.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, Sikeston Motor was stampeding home 9 runs on eight singles and three doubles, helped out by four Bud errors.

Lanny Presley had a perfect 3 for 3 night at bat, spiking two singles and a double while picking up two RBI's. Of the starting nine for Sikeston Motor only G. Harper went hitless, but he did pick up three RBI's on a mishandled ground ball nd dropped fly ball.

Sikeston Motor made a ballgame of it with a five-run rally in the fifth, which pulled them to within one run of the Buds at 10 to 9. But then J. P. Scheureffus came in to pitch in relief of Ray Lasters and held Sikeston Motor hitless and scoreless over the last two innings, while the Buds picked up two more runs and a final 12 to 9 victory.

With last night's victory, Budweiser moved back to a half-game lead over First National Bank in the Capitol division.

City Softball action resumes Monday night with First National Bank meeting Cooney Equipment at 7 p.m, and Presley Travel Trailers hosting the Bank of Sikeston at 8:30 p.m.

Cards Open Sox Series With Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals and Kansas City Royals both shook the doldrums and walked out of snake-bit alley Friday.

The Cardinals, anxious for a sweep of a weekend series that could thrust them back into contention to defend their National League championship, whipped the Chicago Cubs, 3-1, Friday.

The Royals, just anxious to see June depart in hopes that July can't possibly be as bad, rallied, rallied and then rallied some more to edge the Minnesota Twins, 9-8.

The Cardinals are in Chicago for another game this afternoon, then take on the Cubs in a doubleheader at Wrigley Field Sunday afternoon. Dave Giusti, 3-6, pitches for the Redbirds today against Bill Hand, 7-6.

Kansas City entertains Minnesota again this afternoon, and also has a twin bill scheduled with the Twins Sunday afternoon. The Royals' Bil Butler, 3-3, will pitch against Bill Boswell, 10-7, today.

For a while Friday it didn't look like either the Cards or the Royals would have much to be cheerful about.

The Cubs' Ken Holtzman had a perfect game going against St. Louis for 6 2-3 innings, then things collapsed around him.

With two out in the seventh, Vada Pinson broke Holtzman's charm with a single. He took second on a wild pitch and came home with the tying run on Joe Torre's single.

Mike Shannon then sent the Cardinals into the lead with a triple, and Lou Brock drove in an insurance run with a double in the eighth.

Steve Carlton had to labor through 153 pitches to get the pitching victory for St. Louis, but he struck out 12 and scattered 10 hits to make his record 8-5.

The Royals spotted the Twins a 6-1 lead on three-run homers by Tony Oliva and Rich Reese, then battled back to a 6-6 tie with two runs in the fifth and three more in the sixth.

Minnesota then grabbed an 8-6 lead with two in the top of the eighth, but the Royals got one back in the last of that inning.

Then Joye Foy's single drove in the tying run in the last of the ninth, and Bob Taylor's bases - loaded single won the game.

The Royals cracked out 15 hits to post their seventh victory in 28 games this month.

The big blows of the game came off the bat of J. Burden who doubled home a run in the second and parked in a two-run shot over the left centerfield fence in the fourth.

Burden also singled in the sixth to complete a perfect 3 for 3 night at the plate. J. Dyer, D. Mulcahy, and Don Kern drove home the other four Bank of Sikeston runs.

On the Barkett's side of the ledger, J. Chesser wasted a single to deep second in the second inning and J. Bradley bunted safely in the sixth for Barkett's only two hits. Jerry Kelley reached base in the seventh on an error by the shortstop, for the only other Big Star baserunner.

Pitching was practically non-existent in the second game last night, as the Budweisers hung on for a 12 to 9 win over Sikeston Motor Company.

Ten fielding errors spelled defeat for Sikeston Motor as they outhit the Budweiser nine, 11 to 9.

Four errors in the first two innings allowed the Budweisers to tally single runs in each inning without the benefit of a basehit. Then the Buds found the range as Fred Steward, Bobby Kindle, Don Agnew,Ron Borders, Ken Hawkins, Ron Voss, and Ray Lasters accounted for the 12 runs, via basehits and reaching base by way of errors.

Mike Sherry hit a double and a triple in three trips to the plate, Kindle went 3 for 4, and Ron Voss hit two singles in two trips to lead the Bud's hit parade.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, Sikeston Motor was stampeding home 9 runs on eight singles and three doubles, helped out by four Bud errors.

Lanny Presley had a perfect 3 for 3 night at bat, spiking two singles and a double while picking up two RBI's. Of the starting nine for Sikeston Motor only G. Harper went hitless, but he did pick up three RBI's on a mishandled ground ball nd dropped fly ball.

Sikeston Motor made a ballgame of it with a five-run rally in the fifth, which pulled them to within one run of the Buds at 10 to 9. But then J. P. Scheureffus came in to pitch in relief of Ray Lasters and held Sikeston Motor hitless and scoreless over the last two innings, while the Buds picked up two more runs and a final 12 to 9 victory.

With last night's victory, Budweiser moved back to a half-game lead over First National Bank in the Capitol division.

City Softball action resumes Monday night with First National Bank meeting Cooney Equipment at 7 p.m, and Presley Travel Trailers hosting the Bank of Sikeston at 8:30 p.m.

To get a copy, free, write: Careers, Washington, D.C. 20202

It's from the U.S. Office of Education. Every high school graduate should read it. It's about technical careers in all the fields from medicine to engineering to the space program. College men's careers—that pay college men's salaries—but only take a year or two to learn.

It describes the new, intensified programs of today's technical institutes. Gives information on financial assistance.

And shows why men and women with a technical education are all but guaranteed work. (There aren't enough qualified applicants for the technical positions that are open now—yet well over one million more will open in the next few years.)

Send for the guide today. Even if your children won't go through four years of college, you can still help them to a great career.

Lt. and Mrs. William Hunt Wellborn

Rowley-Wellborn Vows

The marriage of Miss Donna Elaine Rowley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Reburn Rowley of R.R. 4, Morganfield, Ky., to Second Lieutenant William Hunt Wellborn Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunt Wellborn, Sr. of 104 South Martin Street, East Prairie, was solemnized at 7:00 p.m. on Saturday, June 14th at the United Methodist Church in Morganfield, Kentucky.

The Reverend Don Davis officiated at the ceremony before an altar decorated with massive brass floor candelabra and floral arrangements of mums and greens.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in moss crepe and dutchess satin. A headpiece of satin and seed pearls was secured by a three tier veil of tulle. She carried her great-grandmother's bible and a colonial bouquet of daisies centered with an orchid. She wore a diamond pendant necklace, her grandfather's gift to her paternal grandmother before their marriage, and a lace handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother. For something new she wore a blue satin and lace garter given to her by her aunt, Mrs. Charles Rhea O'Nan, which contained a new penny supplied by her aunt, Mrs. J.R. Slack.

Her attendants wore floor length gowns of nightlight taffeta, the matron of honors' gold, the others blue. They carried colonial bouquet of daisies.

Mrs. John Fletcher Mason of Morganfield, Ky., served the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Marsha O'Nan, Sturgis, Ky., cousin of the bride, Miss Jane Slack of Guthrie, cousin of the bride, and Miss Faye Henry of New Madrid, former roommate of the bride.

First Lieutenant Albert Goodin, of Fort Sill, Okla., served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Harvey Sunamaker of Brookport, Ill., Vearl Caid of Charleston and John Roger Rowley, of Bloomfield, brother of the bride.

Serving at the reception, which was held in the Christian Service Room of the United Methodist Church, were Mrs. Vearl Caid of Charleston, Miss Carol Slack of Guthrie, cousin of the bride, Miss Jill Cox of Dawson Springs, Ky., Mrs. Johnny Payne, sister of the groom, of Clarksville, Tenn., and Miss Melissa Holeman of Dawson Springs, Ky., roommate of the bride. Mrs. John Roger Rowley of Bloomington, Ind., sister-in-law of the bride, officiated at the registration book.

The new Mrs. Wellborn graduated from Lockyears Business College of Evansville, Ind., received a diploma for Secretarial and IBM Course there, and has completed two years at Murray State University, Murray, Ky., majoring in home economics.

Wellborn received his B.S. degree in agriculture from Murray State University in June, 1968, and is now with Hq. Co BCT. COMM. GRP. of Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

After a brief wedding trip to Kentucky Lake, the couple will reside at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Joseph- Coffey Vows

ESSEX — Miss Linda Joseph of Essex and Robert Coffey of St. Charles were married May 29 at 8 p.m. in the Hopewell (Boyt) Church near Essex by the Rev. George Huffstutter, uncle of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Russell Joseph, the bride wore an empire-wasited gown of chantilly lace and silk organza falling into a chapel-length organza train appliqued with lace motifs. A mantila veil of silk illusion tipped with chantilly lace and a bridal bouquet of red roses and pink daisies completed her costume.

Before an altar flanked by columns of greenery and candelabra trees holding pink tapers, Mrs. Linda Shipman, sister of the bridegroom, sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Be With Us, Lord." Miss Vicki Gisi was accompanist.

Miss Johnette Joseph was maid of honor gowned in a formal length Nile green A-line of acetate and nylon lace over taffeta.

Miss Johnette Joseph was her cousin's maid of honor, gowned in a formal-length Nile green A-line of acetate and nylon lace over taffeta. She wore a shoulder-length veil and carried pink pom-pons.

Miss Janet Joseph and Miss Cheryl Joseph were their sister's bridesmaids dressed identically to the maid of honor.

Candelighters were Misses Kathy Lane and Sheila Gaylord who wore pink lace and Miss Candy Coffey, sister of the bridegroom, also in Nile green.

Dennis Joseph, brother of the bride, served as best man and other groomsmen were Carrol Deal and Stanley Gaylord. Ushers were Keith Coffey and Dan Hite.

Mrs. Joseph, mother of the bride, chose a two-piece double knit in Nile green dacron and Mrs. Coffey wore a double knit dacron A-line floral print. Corsages were pink cymbidium orchids.

The reception was held in the church basement. A gift table was laid with lace over pink damask and centered with a green cloth overlayed with white net. A three-tiered wedding cake was flanked on either side with pink tapers in crystal holders.

Mrs. Gene Mitchell, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. John Joseph, Mrs. Marilyn Tucker and Miss Paula Gowen served the guests.

The couple left for a short wedding trip and will make their home in St. Charles. For going away, Mrs. Cofey wore a pink double knit dacron shift and a small corsage taken from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Richland High School. Mr. Coffey was a 1968 graduate of Richland High School and is employed by Hussman Refrigerator Company in St. Charles.

You can buy a diamond almost anywhere

(but should you?)

Almost everyone seems to be selling diamonds these days. Department stores, discount houses, and the "down- in - the cellar" jewelry stores, all offer this most precious gem.

But there's more to selling diamonds than just having them in stock... and there's more to buying that diamond, than simply comparing prices.

What you want, when choosing your diamond, is that certain confidence, that comes from dealing with experts. And you'll find them at Wright's Jewelry .. the diamond store.

You're invited to come in... meet our experts ... and ask them to show you our wide selection of diamonds priced to fit your budget.

Mrs. William Ernest Aslin

Janice Asbell Wed

The marriage of Miss Janice Faye Asbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Asbell of Bloomfield and William Ernest Aslin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gorty Aslin also of Bloomfield, was solemnized at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, June 7th, in the Liberty Hill General Baptist Church.

The Rev. Sterling Aubuchon officiated at the double ring ceremony before a background composed of a large basket of blue mums and lighted ivory tapers in an arched candelabrum entwined with greenery, flanked by tree candelabra. Greenery held on white columns and a pre dieu completed the setting.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. James Walker who, also, accompanied Miss Marla Smith as she sang "More" and "One Hand, One Heart".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory peau de soie and re-embroidered alencon lace fashioned on demi-A line. The dress featured an empire waist overlaid with lace to form a portrait neckline. Motifs adorned the long tapered sleeves at the points over the hands. Alencon lace also bordered the wide hemline. Full-length inverted pleats on either side allowed fullness to form a chapel length train adorned with hand-clipped lace motifs. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion fell from a petal and loop headpiece of lace and organza that was edged with pearls. She carried a white bouquet of cascading roses centered with a large orchid.

Mrs. Buddy Maddox, Hazelwood, was her sister's matron of honor. Miss Debbie Taylor, Dudley, Miss Donna Richmond and Miss Judy Quick, Bloomfield, were bridesmaids. They were identically dressed in long gowns of blue lyric with jewel neckline and brief sleeves. The bodice had inserts and the back featured a high waist accented with a bow and streamers. The headdresses were three-tiered veils of blue tulle trimmed by roses and petals of blue lyric. They carried bouquets of blue snowdrift mums and greenery accented with white ribbon streamers. The dresses were fashioned by Mrs. Peggy Harris.

Candles were lighted by Miss Lynn Aslin, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Tony Burdine of Cape Girardeau. They were dressed identically to the attendants.

Bill Ward, Hazelwood, was the best man for his cousin. David Pounds, Cape Girardeau, Roger Totten, Dexter, and Mike Mick, Jonesboro, Ark., were groomsmen. Larry Champ, Bloomfield and Tony Burdine, Cape Girardeau were ushers. The groom wore a white rose boutonnier and his attendants wore white snowdrift boutonnieres.

Mrs. Asbell selected for her daughter's wedding a three-piece pink and white suit with matching accessories. Mrs. Aslin, mother of the groom, wore a blue jacket dress and bone accessories. The groom's grandmothers, Mrs. W.F. Ward and Mrs. Ernest Aslin, as well as the mothers, each wore a white orchid corsage.

A reception was given immediately following the wedding. A white floor-length satin cloth, overlaid with blue net, covered the bride's table. A four-tiered ivory cake, topped with blue net, covered the bride's table. A four-tiered ivory cake, topped with a bride and groom in an arch of flowers, centered the table. The cake was flanked by silver candelabra with silver punch bowl and coffee service at each end. Mints and nuts were served in silver compotes. Mrs. J.T. Irvin, Dudley, was in charge of the reception. Mrs. Loren Kilmer, Dexter, aunt of the bride, served the cake; Mrs. Bayless Taylor, Jr., Dudley, served the coffee and Miss Brenda French, Bloomfield, served the punch.

After a short wedding trip, Aslin and his bride will make their home in Bloomfield for the summer. For travel, the new Mrs. Aslin wore an A-line dress of blue lyric. Her accessories were ivory and her orchid corsage was from her bridal bouquet.

The former Miss Asbell was graduated from Bloomfield High School in 1967 and attended Southeast Missouri State College for the past two years where she received a Secretarial Certificate.

Aslin is a 1966 graduate of Bloomfield High School and has attended Arkansas State University for the past three years.

The Rev. Cline Ables, minister of the Temple Baptist Church of Sikeston, performed the double - ring ceremony. Miss Janie Simpkins provided organ music, and accompanied Mr. Alan Mickel who sang, "I Love You Truly," and as the benediction, "The Wedding Prayer," while the couple knelt at the prie-dieu.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle by her father, the bride was in a gown of white crepe and chantilly lace, an empire design, featuring a bodice of re-embroidered lace, scooped neckline and fingertip sleeves enhanced with lace motifs. Repeated patterns of the lace motifs adorned the hemline of the slim skirt, and the train which flowed from the shoulders into chapel length. Her headdress of French illusion was attached to a bandeau of white crepe accented with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow cymbidium orchids, encircled with white roses tied with white streamers and pale green lovers knots and miniature rose buds.

Attending the bride as her matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Hubert Woods of East Prairie. Her floor-length gown, fashioned after the bride's, was of lime green satin. Her short headdress of matching green net was attached to a bandeau of satin and she carried a nosegay of white rosebuds tied with streamers.

Hubert Woods of East Prairie, served the groom as best man. Ushers were Ray Williams and Herb H. Stephens, both of Sikeston.

Mrs. Maloy Jackson chose for her daughter's wedding an ensemble of blue linen accented with white lace, complimented by white accessories and a shoulder corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. Tillman Williams, was attired in a dress of beige knit with which she wore beige accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the dining hall of the church with the bride's colors of yellow and green being carried out in the decorations. The reception table, overlaid in white lace, was centered with an arrangement of yellow crysanthemums in silver container and graced on either side by three branch, silver candelabra holding green tapers. A traditional three-tiered wedding cake and a crystal punch service were at either end of the table, with silver table appointments completing the table setting. Serving during the reception were Miss Sue Leigh of Charleston and Mrs. James Haines of East Prairie. Each wore shoulder corsages of yellow carnations tied in green. Attending the guest register was Mrs. Della Mae Phillips of Sikeston, attired in yellow knit, and with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Following a wedding trip to Kentucky Lake, the young couple are now at home at 122 W. Kathleen, Sikeston.

The new Mrs. Williams, a graduate of East Prairie High School, class of 1961, completed her nursing training at the Poplar Bluff School of Nursing in 1963 and is presently working at the Delta Community Hospital. Mr. Williams, a graduate of Matthews High School, is employed at the 7-Up Bottling Co., Sikeston.

Out-of-town guests included; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams, Mrs. Cline Ables, Mrs. Bobby Ables, Mrs. James W. Bonner, Mrs. P. T. Trisdale, Mrs. Pauline Harrison, Mrs. Bryant, Mrs. Willie Mae Stewart, Mrs. Velma Woods, Mrs. Carlin Nabors, Mrs. Doris Stephens, Darlene Stephens, Miss Elizabeth Barnett, Mr. Barry Farrell, Mrs. Della Mae Phillips, and Mr. Wendall Williams, all of Sikeston; and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Bollinger of Benton.

Hoggatt Wed

Twin baskets of white gladiolas and daisies adorned the altar and yellow satin bows marked the family pews for the wedding of Miss Veeda Ann Hoggatt and Lee Edward Womack at eleven o'clock Saturday morning, June 21. The Rev. Larry Long performed the double ring ceremony at the Christian Church. Miss Louanna Sutton was organist for the nuptial music.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Franklin Hoggatt of Route 3, Matthews, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Womack, Route 3, Festus.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length white satin gown. The bodice had an overlay of lace and long, pointed lace sleeves.

Miss Jackie Mae Hoggatt, sister of the bride Route 3, Matthews, was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length sleeveless dress of yellow dotted swiss and headdress of yellow tulle and rosebuds featuring a shoulder-length veil. She carried a single long-stemmed daisy.

The bridegroom chose Tom Kavlick, of Hillsboro as best man. Ushers were Bill Tope, Festus and Bill Womack, of St. Louis.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hoggatt chose a three-piece beige suit with matching accessories. Mrs. Womack wore a pale yellow dress with white accessories. Each mother wore a white daisy corsage.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall. Guests were served by Mrs. Nelson Lumsden, Mrs. Roy K. Stanley, Mrs. E.C. Reed, Miss Delores Bradshhaw of Springfield, and Mrs. Melvin Tidwell,Sikeston. Mrs. Bill Tope, Festus presided at the guest book.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth overlaid with yellow net. The centerpiece of daisies was flanked with yellow tapers in silver candlesticks. The three-tiered wedding cake was served with yellow punch, mints, and nuts.

After a short wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks the couple will be at home at Route 3, Festus.

For her going away costume the bride chose a mint green dress with matching shoes, white purse and gloves.

The bride is a graduate of Matthews High School. She was a teacher in the elementary school last year at Pevely and will continue there next year. The groom is employed at the Glass Company at Festus.

Mrs. Ronald Thomas Biller

Miss Hahs Wed

Sunday afternoon, June 8th, at three o'clock, Miss Katherine Anne Hahs became the bride of Ronald Thomas Biller. Miss Hahs is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hahs, 731 North Ranney. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Biller, 101 Sunswept Drive, High Ridge, Missouri. Rev. James W. Hackney performed the double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church in Sikeston.

Preceding the nuptial vows, David Hahs, brother of the bride, and John Biller, brother of the groom, lighted the branch and arch candelabra. Standards of yellow gladiola and white daisies completed the decorations.

Wedding music was provided by Miss Elaine Farmer at the organ and Miss Ann D. Buchanan, who sang "One Hand, One Heart" and "The Wedding Prayer".

The bride chose her cousin, Mrs. James Aguanno, as matron-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Craig Hahs, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Sherry Smith, a cousin, and Mrs. John Green, Miss Georganne Penzel and Miss Melinda Brown, sorority sisters. The attendants wore formal yellow dacron dotted Swiss gowns and carried nosegays of white daisies. The bride was preceded by the flower girl, little Miss Janet Hahs, a cousin, who wore a long white dotted Swiss gown trimmed with a yellow velvet sash.

Miss Hahs was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a formal gown of chantilly lace and organza over taffeta. The close fitted lace bodice featured long slender sleeves with a scalloped edge and accented with a jeweled lace motif. The wedding ring neckline was also scalloped and jeweled. The semi-controlled skirt was of organza and softly pleated at the waist. Jeweled trimmed lace motifs were sprinkled about the front of the skirt, and were used again at the bottom of the full organza train which swept to a full chapel length. Her headdress was a band of pearlized orange blossoms, spiked with pearlized stamin. Attached was a three tiered hand rolled silk illusion veil. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white daisies and gardenias.

William Boedefeld, served his fraternity brother as best man. Other members of the groom's party were Alton Dodson, Ken Fehlig, Charles Stamp, Tom McKee and Doug Witry. The men were attired in summer tuxedoes.

The ceremony was followed by a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Mrs. Doug Johnson presided at the guest book table. Miss Sandy Radick and Miss Bonnie Kuechler served the four tiered white wedding cake from the round bride's table, which was covered with a white cloth trimmed with swaths of white net and wedding bells. The cake was surrounded by white daisies and greenery. Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gene Williams

Miss Jackson Wed

The altar of the First Baptist Church of East Prairie, lighted by the glow of tapers in a 15-branch arch brass candelabra, entwined with greenery, and matching spiral tree candelabra gracing either side of arrangements of yellow gladioli, was the setting for the recent wedding of Miss Patricia Juanita Jackson to Mr. Harold Gene Williams. Bows of pastel green and yellow with greenery adorned the front pews of the church.

The former Miss Jackson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maloy Jackson, East Prairie, nd the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tillman E. Williams, Sikeston.

The Rev. Cline Ables, minister of the Temple Baptist Church of Sikeston, performed the double - ring ceremony. HEAD START ON READING 10

Make Early Reading Fun, Not Chore

By Dr. Ruth Strickland
Reading Specialist at Indiana University

If she races ahead, don't hold her back.

Occasionally we find a youngster who can't wait to race down the road to reading.

He asks questions at a machine gun clip: "What does that sign say, Mommy? What's this word? What does that mean on the box? What does this spell?"

Don't try to hold him back. Turn him loose and let him run.

Answer all his questions, being careful not to give him more detail than he wants or can understand. Tell him what the signs say. Let him help you find things at the supermarket, or any place and any time when it calls for giving attention to words. Read him stories and poems, and play games that focus on letters and words.

That doesn't mean as fast as you might want him to go. Encourage him, certainly, and help him. But let him set the pace. Make it fun, not a chore. Don't exploit this wonderful curiosity by loading him with work and turning him away from reading.

Quite often this type of child will develop an early interest in writing, particularly in writing his own name. Parents can show him how to do it, starting with printed capital letters perhaps one-half or three-quarters of an inch high.

Don't worry too much about the quality of the printing at this early stage. The child's muscular coordination is not fully developed. Quality can wait. Don't dull his sense of achievement with unrealistic criticism.

Let Him Help

Most likely a child who shows this early interest in reading will want to sit beside Mother and watch the book while she reads to him. If it is a familiar story, one which he has heard several times, he will say after a bit, "Let me turn the page."

Perhaps also he notices that the name of the character in the story, appears over and over again, and he says, "I know where the name is," or "I know what it says under the picture."

This is more than mere memorization; this is the child's beginning awareness of what reading is all about. Parents should commend him for his alertness. They should take advantage of this good opportunity to point out what the reading process is: that writing begins in the author's mind, is turned into words which are made into black marks on a page, and those marks can be read over and over again and still say just what the author meant them to say originally.

When the pre-school child begins to try to work out new words for himself, the parent can help him by calling attention to the initial sound: "See, that word starts the same way Mary does, and that me, and my and milk do." Or perhaps, "That word rhymes with wet and set."

With these clues, the child begins to learn that there is a certain order of things in reading, that there are ways to attack a strange word, that learning to read doesn't mean memorizing every single word.

Two Bad Habits

As a child begins to read for himself, one point needs to be watched very carefully—the matter of reading aloud with normal speech intonation.

Some children, if they are not watched or are badly taught, form the habit of reading words one by one with equal emphasis: "The-man-saw-a-dog."

This habit, and the habit of pointing to each word as it is read, both are hard to break once they are ingrained. They both tend to slow down his progress and keep him from getting the meaning of a sentence because he is handling the words like so many beads on a string.

Parents should help their children learn to read a sentence the same way they would say it if they were not reading. If a child figures out a sentence bit by bit, the parent can say, "Fine, you've figured out all the words, now read it to me."

If the child needs help with keeping his place on a page, give him a card to place under the line so that he needn't point to every word with his finger.

You should make many simple beginner's books available to the early learner.

Also, he should be allowed to read what he is interested in, whether or not the book is really too difficult for him.

The fact that the child is now reading does not mean that the parents should stop reading to him. Children need to be read to all through the elementary school years.

They need to know that reading is part of good living, that it is something cherished by the members of his family. Soon they, too, will come to cherish reading and accept it as a good and wonderful part of life.

Evening a Splash and a Scream

50 years ago
June 28, 1919

Monday evening a few of the young people gave themselves a swimming party and picnic afterwards. After enjoying the swim they motored to the end of the rock road and had a picnic supper; then to Morley where they danced. Everybody decided the evening was a splash and a scream. The following couples were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Chas Lindley: Ralph Anderson, Miss Majorie Smith, Reginald Potashnick, Miss Camille Klein, Herman Henry, Miss Fern Allen, Charles Blanton, Miss Ruth Baker, Ernest Arterburn, Miss Mary Ross, Loomis Mayfield, Nina Marshall, Earl Pete, Miss Clara Moore, James Kevil, Miss Gladys Kendall, Miss Burnice Tanner, Miss Mayme Marshall, Dick Stubbs and Mort Griffith.

A letter has been received from Elbert Golightly by his mother stating that he has joined the army for a period of three years and is now in Camp Meade, Md., and expects to go "over there" in a few days.

Roy Ruffin has arrived home from France, where he has been doing overseas duty.

Raymond Marshall has been discharged and has returned at his home in Blodgett after several months service in France.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ. (Ephesians 1:2, RSV)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, thank You for being a constant source of strength to us in our daily lives. For giving us couragage in times of stress and sorrow and for Your loving grace in times of joy and victory, thank You, Lord and Savior. Amen.

Air Medal to Major Sharp

GIDEON — U.S. Air Force Major Charles L. Sharp, son of Mrs. Lynn Sharp of Clarkton, Mo., has been decorated with the Air Medal at Lorat Royal Tahi AFB, Thailand, by Colonel William B. Craig, 388th Tactical Fighter Wing deputy commander for operations, for air action in Southeast Asia.

Major Sharp, a tactical fighter pilot, was cited for his outstanding airmanship, and courage on successful and important missions completed under hazardous conditions.

The major, who is assigned to a unit of the Pacific Air Forces, is a graduate of Clarkton High School and attended Southeast Missouri State College.

His wife, Olla, is the daughter of Mrs. Ruby Bailey of Clarkton.

Two Arrested At Dexter

DEXTER — Albert Cossou, 30, was arrested today and fined $20 in city court on a charge of public intoxication.

Frankie Irene Creecy, 35, was given a ticket for careless and imprudent driving after a collision on highway 124 and Locust St. with a car driven by Glenda Sutherland, Dexter. Creecy was hospitalized.

The 22nd Amendment to the Constitution limits presidents to two elected terms.

If You Were the Judge

Wish Estate Valid

By Jack Strauss, LL.BB.

Herman climbed the ladder of success wrong by wrong. To make amends for his misdeeds, when he died, his will directed the distribution of his sizeable estate in a somewhat spiritual fashion. Specifically, his will provided that his fortune was to be given to such chartiable organizations as his trustees might feel were directed by God.

"That's the silliest thing we've ever heard," objected Herman's disinherited relatives in court. "How can trustees know what's in God's mind? They haven't got a hotline to Him. The will is too vague and, therefore, it's invalid. As Herman's next of kin, we're entitled to have his assets split up between us."

"While we might not have a direct wire to God," responded the trustees, "we've got a pretty fair notion of how the money can be best distributed to serve His best interests. Therefore, the will is sufficiently specific and perfectly valid."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you uphold the validity of Herman's spiritual will?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! He held that the trustees were not expected to have a divine knowledge. They were only bound to sincerely feel, think or believe that their choices in distributing the funds of the estate, whatever they might be, would be in harmony with the will of God.

(Based upon a 1953 Iowa Supreme Court Decision)

Fireworks Display at Charleston

CHARLESTON — A July 4 fireworks display will be sponsored by the Auxiliary Police at the Jaycee Speedway East of Charleston. No admission will be charged and the show will begin at dark.

HEAD START ON READING 10

Make Early Reading Fun, Not Chore

By Dr. Ruth Strickland
Reading Specialist at Indiana University

If she races ahead, don't hold her back.

Occasionally we find a youngster who can't wait to race down the road to reading.

He asks questions at a machine gun clip: "What does that sign say, Mommy? What's this word? What does that mean on the box? What does this spell?"

Don't try to hold him back. Turn him loose and let him run.

Answer all his questions, being careful not to give him more detail than he wants or can understand. Tell him what the signs say. Let him help you find things at the supermarket, or any place and any time when it calls for giving attention to words. Read him stories and poems, and play games that focus on letters and words.

That doesn't mean as fast as you might want him to go. Encourage him, certainly, and help him. But let him set the pace. Make it fun, not a chore. Don't exploit this wonderful curiosity by loading him with work and turning him away from reading.

Quite often this type of child will develop an early interest in writing, particularly in writing his own name. Parents can show him how to do it, starting with printed capital letters perhaps one-half or three-quarters of an inch high.

Don't worry too much about the quality of the printing at this early stage. The child's muscular coordination is not fully developed. Quality can wait. Don't dull his sense of achievement with unrealistic criticism.

Let Him Help

Most likely a child who shows this early interest in reading will want to sit beside Mother and watch the book while she reads to him. If it is a familiar story, one which he has heard several times, he will say after a bit, "Let me turn the page."

Perhaps also he notices that the name of the character in the story, appears over and over again, and he says, "I know where the name is," or "I know what it says under the picture."

This is more than mere memorization; this is the child's beginning awareness of what reading is all about. Parents should commend him for his alertness. They should take advantage of this good opportunity to point out what the reading process is: that writing begins in the author's mind, is turned into words which are made into black marks on a page, and those marks can be read over and over again and still say just what the author meant them to say originally.

When the pre-school child begins to try to work out new words for himself, the parent can help him by calling attention to the initial sound: "See, that word starts the same way Mary does, and that me, and my and milk do." Or perhaps, "That word rhymes with wet and set."

With these clues, the child begins to learn that there is a certain order of things in reading, that there are ways to attack a strange word, that learning to read doesn't mean memorizing every single word.

Two Bad Habits

As a child begins to read for himself, one point needs to be watched very carefully—the matter of reading aloud with normal speech intonation.

Some children, if they are not watched or are badly taught, form the habit of reading words one by one with equal emphasis: "The-man-saw-a-dog."

This habit, and the habit of pointing to each word as it is read, both are hard to break once they are ingrained. They both tend to slow down his progress and keep him from getting the meaning of a sentence because he is handling the words like so many beads on a string.

Parents should help their children learn to read a sentence the same way they would say it if they were not reading. If a child figures out a sentence bit by bit, the parent can say, "Fine, you've figured out all the words, now read it to me."

If the child needs help with keeping his place on a page, give him a card to place under the line so that he needn't point to every word with his finger.

You should make many simple beginner's books available to the early learner.

Also, he should be allowed to read what he is interested in, whether or not the book is really too difficult for him.

The fact that the child is now reading does not mean that the parents should stop reading to him. Children need to be read to all through the elementary school years.

They need to know that reading is part of good living, that it is something cherished by the members of his family. Soon they, too, will come to cherish reading and accept it as a good and wonderful part of life.

June 28, 1919

Monday evening a few of the young people gave themselves a swimming party and picnic afterwards. After enjoying the swim they motored to the end of the rock road and had a picnic supper; then to Morley where they danced. Everybody decided the evening was a splash and a scream. The following couples were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Chas Lindley: Ralph Anderson, Miss Majorie Smith, Reginald Potashnick, Miss Camille Klein, Herman Henry, Miss Fern Allen, Charles Blanton, Miss Ruth Baker, Ernest Arterburn, Miss Mary Ross, Loomis Mayfield, Nina Marshall, Earl Pete, Miss Clara Moore, James Kevil, Miss Gladys Kendall, Miss Burnice Tanner, Miss Mayme Marshall, Dick Stubbs and Mort Griffith.

A letter has been received from Elbert Golightly by his mother stating that he has joined the army for a period of three years and is now in Camp Meade, Md., and expects to go "over there" in a few days.

Roy Ruffin has arrived home from France, where he has been doing overseas duty.

Raymond Marshall has been discharged and has returned at his home in Blodgett after several months service in France.

The Prayer
from The Upper Room

Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ. (Ephesians 1:2, RSV)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, thank You for being a constant source of strength to us in our daily lives. For giving us couragage in times of stress and sorrow and for Your loving grace in times of joy and victory, thank You, Lord and Savior. Amen.

Air Medal to Major Sharp

GIDEON — U.S. Air Force Major Charles L. Sharp, son of Mrs. Lynn Sharp of Clarkton, Mo., has been decorated with the Air Medal at Lorat Royal Tahi AFB, Thailand, by Colonel William B. Craig, 388th Tactical Fighter Wing deputy commander for operations, for air action in Southeast Asia.

Major Sharp, a tactical fighter pilot, was cited for his outstanding airmanship, and courage on successful and important missions completed under hazardous conditions.

The major, who is assigned to a unit of the Pacific Air Forces, is a graduate of Clarkton High School and attended Southeast Missouri State College.

His wife, Olla, is the daughter of Mrs. Ruby Bailey of Clarkton.

If You Were the Judge

Wish Estate Valid

By Jack Strauss, LL.BB.

Herman climbed the ladder of success wrong by wrong. To make amends for his misdeeds, when he died, his will directed the distribution of his sizeable estate in a somewhat spiritual fashion. Specifically, his will provided that his fortune was to be given to such chartiable organizations as his trustees might feel were directed by God.

"That's the silliest thing we've ever heard," objected Herman's disinherited relatives in court. "How can trustees know what's in God's mind? They haven't got a hotline to Him. The will is too vague and, therefore, it's invalid. As Herman's next of kin, we're entitled to have his assets split up between us."

"While we might not have a direct wire to God," responded the trustees, "we've got a pretty fair notion of how the money can be best distributed to serve His best interests. Therefore, the will is sufficiently specific and perfectly valid."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you uphold the validity of Herman's spiritual will?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! He held that the trustees were not expected to have a divine knowledge. They were only bound to sincerely feel, think or believe that their choices in distributing the funds of the estate, whatever they might be, would be in harmony with the will of God.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, June 28, the 179th day of 1969. There are 186 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1914, the heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, was assassinated, sparking World War I.

On this date:

In 1778, the Revolutionary War battle of Monmouth, N.J., was fought. Molly Pitcher's aid to the colonial troops made her a heroine in America history.

In 1838, Britain's Queen Victoria was crowned.

In 1919, the Versailles Treaty was signed in France after World War I.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, June 28, the 179th day of 1969. There are 186 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1914, the heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, was assassinated, sparking World War I.

On this date:

In 1778, the Revolutionary War battle of Monmouth, N.J., was fought. Molly Pitcher's aid to the colonial troops made her a heroine in America history.

In 1838, Britain's Queen Victoria was crowned.

In 1919, the Versailles Treaty was signed in France after World War I.

In 1941, guerrilla warfare against the Nazis began in Yugoslavia during World War II.

In 1944, a Republican National Convention in Chicago nominated New York Governor Thomas E. Dewey for president.

In 1945, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced the re-conquest of Luzon in the Philippines during the Pacific war.

Ten years ago: Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Koslov arrived in New York to open a Soviet exhibition.

Five years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson said the United States would risk war if necessary to protect Southeast Asia.

One year ago: The government of South Vietnam clamped down on critics, threatening to arrest people opposed to the government's complete opposition to any deal with the Communists.

Malden Will Accept Bids on Fire Station

MALDEN — The advertising for bids for the construction of a new fire station at the Malden Airport was authorized Monday night by the City Council.

A 74 by 36 brick veneer building is to be erected to the south of the entrance to the airport at the northern edge of the new park area. The building will house a new fire truck which is now on order and will provide living quarters for the driver of the truck.

A $50,000 bond issue was approved by the voters of Malden last November to underwrite the cost of the truck and the building.

In other action by the Council, Bob Batchelor was employed as a policeman to replace Dale Evans. Evans recently submitted his resignation to accept other employment.

The equipment committee was authorized to purchase a used car for use by the police department.

An ordinance was passed prohibiting the operation of motor vehicles on or near the landing area at the Malden Airport. Violators are subject to a fine and sentence.

The ordinance became necessary when it was reported that farmers and others were leaving vehicles parked too close to the landing strips.

Renewal of beer and liquor package store licenses were approved for Northside Package Store, Allan Trout; Super-Quik A.C. Shumway; and King's Cigar Store, James D. King.

Renewal of tavern licenses were approved for Block Inn and Laclede Taverns, Earl King; Bob's Place, Robert L. Ross; and Hickory House Restaurant, A. E. Watson.

Mayor Sparrel Davis and the Council announced plans to blacktop several streets this summer within the city. They requested that any property owners desiring to have a street blacktopped to please contact their Councilman before the next Council meeting.

THREE POSTHUMOUS awards were given Sgt. Clarence Dean Russell, 1966 graduate of Sikeston high school, for service in Vietnam. Russell's mother, Mrs. Verna Todd, Henderson, Ky., reads a letter informing her that her son received posthumously the bronze star medal (first oak leaf cluster), the purple heart and the good conduct medal.

Medals Awarded to Russell

Sgt. Clarence Dean Russell, 1966 graduate of Sikeston high school, has been awarded, posthumously, the bronze star first oak leaf cluster), the purple heart and the good conduct Medals.

Sargeant Russell entered the Sikeston school system during his sophomore year in 1963, and he remained in Sikeston until 1967 when he entered the service.

Sargeant Russell, son of Mrs. Verna Todd, Henderson, Ky., was in Vietnam for the third time when he was killed in action, Feb. 23.

He was killed by enemy small arms fire near Dau Tieng when he left the platoon area to assist to fellow soldiers under heavy fire on the base camp's perimeter.

Prior to his death, he was awarded the bronze star medal for heroism, the purple heart, the national defense service medal, the Vietnam service medal and the Vietnam campaign ribbon.

Both civilians and military men may become members of the French Legion of Honor for outstanding civil or military service.

Workshop for School Lunch Managers Opens

CAPE GIRARDEAU — One summer workshop is in full swing this week at Southeast Missouri State College and preparations are about complete for another to begin.

Thirty school lunchroom managers arrived on the campus Thursday for a two-day, no credit workshop on management aspects of school lunch programs. On the same day a custodial training school, being attended by 31 persons, will come to a conclusion.

The custodians have been receiving instruction since Monday (June 23) in one of three areas — housekeeping, heating and ventilation, and building maintenance and repair. They will receive a certificate upon completion of the course.

The school was organized and operated by the School Building Services Section of the State Department of Education. John T. Ruester, superintendent of buildings and grounds at Southeast Missouri State, was in charge of local arrangements.

Directors of the school lunch workshop will be Miss Geneva Smith and Mrs. Grace Hoover, assistant professor and head of the home economics department at Southeast Missouri State.

The workshop is a joint project of the college's home economics department and the School Food Services Section of the State Department of Education.

receive a reward. He drills about 20 patients a week in the Charleston R-1 Kindergarten building, choosing for immediate attention the most severe cases. The summer speech program is conducted Tuesdays and Thursdays, June 10 until July 30, in half-hour private sessions with voluntary $2.50 donations to the Easter Seal Society.

"The problems we see are in articulation," Rowe said. "Many people unknowingly substitute the "s" sound for the "ch" sound and pronounce a "w" like an "r," as in saying "wabbit." Other problems are mixing the parts of a sentence and leaving out the verbs in speech, Rowe said. Correcting Southeast Missouri dialects and Negro dialects is important if the speech hinders the patient's job, as in radio announcing, the correctionist explained.

A part-time summer staffer at Anna State Hospital in Anna, Ill., and organizer of the Mississippi Co. speech clinic, Rowe said he wants to make the trial summer speech program a permanent county program. The program would work in connection with the speech clinic staffs in the Charleston schools which Rowe will join in the fall. Receiving patient referrals from the County Health Department, school teachers and Headstart, Rowe is discovering that much can be done toward improved speech in Mississippi Co.

"Many people are apathetic about speech correction now, but they will change when they learn about our program." Rowe said. He has already noticed some interest in he program which he expects to increase as Mississippi County people discover the physical and social necessity of correct speech.

Here — There Everywhere In Sports

With

E. J. Mays

Bootheel fisherman are rapidly becoming acquainted with the fact that Wayne Prince, the affable Marston barber, has laid conclusive claim to being the "best bass-catcher in the Bootheel area" — and he has the results to back up this belief.

For, believe it or not, Wayne has come up with the astounding recording of having caught a total of 70 bass so far this year including an eight pounder, a seven pounder, a half dozen six pounders, more than 20 five pounders and plenty in the three-four pound classification. However, his son, 17-year-old David seems to be even luckier for he had his name drawn for an overall fishing prize at Wal-Mart that netted him $35 in merchandise, even though his entry in the Wal-Mart Fishing Festival had been only a six pounder. That fish won the weekly prize of $25. Father Wayne came through with a pair of weekly wins on catches of seven and eight pounds.

Not only has Wayne and David played havoc with the delusion that the Bootheel Lakes don't have fish like Kentucky Lake, Reelfoot, Bull Shoals or Norfork, but they have indelibely stamped Whitten's Lake and the St. John's Bayou area of New Madrid County as prime fishing spots. Both use Strike King lures, manufactured in Memphis, as their chief attraction with Wayne going for a black shirt and David centered on yellow and green.

"Fish slow and constantly is the Prince's formula for success!"

Nick Kotis, the fishing expert from Akron, Ohio and president of Fred Arbogast Co. Inc., is offering, for the small investment of only 25 cents, a chart showing the depths to be fished during the "Dog Days" of July and August. It is available at all sporting goods stores. Also available, direct from the company at Akron, is a series of fishing motion pictures available for the use of sports and civic clubs. Arrangements may be made by writing Kotis at Fred Arbogast Co. Akron, Ohio.

SHORT CASTS — Sikeston anglers did themselves proud during the past 10 days on the water with Carl Campbell, of Campbell Appliances, faring forth to the Florida Keys and coming back with good catches of grouper, mackerel and yellow-tail . . . Charles Beaudean and Kenneth Cauthorn made Swan Lake, across the river from Cairo, in Kentucky, pay off with limit catches of three-four pounders, using a Rex Spoon . . . Charles "Triple I" Blanton III, availed himself of an opportunity to fish Lake of the Woods and Fox and Separation Lakes in Canada and brought back reports . . . and evidence . . . of good catches of bass, pike and Northerns . . . the lake trout and muskies weren't having any of the party's presentations. The group of newspapermen were hosted by George Holder of Boise Cascade Paper Co.

Harry Herwig, of Charleston, manufacturer of the Devil Jig, demonstrated how to use it to this writer and came through with proof positive with catches of three pounders at a small Kentucky lake. Partner Carl Chappell, of Charleston, also boated some three pounders on the Devil Jig.

DENSE BLACK SMOKE containing obnoxious fumes pours from the Hudson Warehouse complex. An estimated 3,500 persons were evacuated from the Cairo uptown area Thursday as danger that ammonia nitrate would explode and emit deadly fumes over the city. firemen risked their lives to penetrate the five-block long warehouse fire and prevent the fire from getting to the deadly nitrate. This photo was taken within 10 minutes after the alarm was turned in. (Cairo Evening Citizen Photo.)

Malden Will Accept Bids on Fire Station

MALDEN — The advertising for bids for the construction of a new fire station at the Malden Airport was authorized Monday night by the City Council.

A 74 by 36 brick veneer building is to be erected to the south of the entrance to the airport at the northern edge of the new park area. The building will house a new fire truck which is now on order and will provide living quarters for the driver of the truck.

A $50,000 bond issue was approved by the voters of Malden last November to underwrite the cost of the truck and the building.

In other action by the Council, Bob Batchelor was employed as a policeman to replace Dale Evans. Evans recently submitted his resignation to accept other employment.

The equipment committee was authorized to purchase a used car for use by the police department.

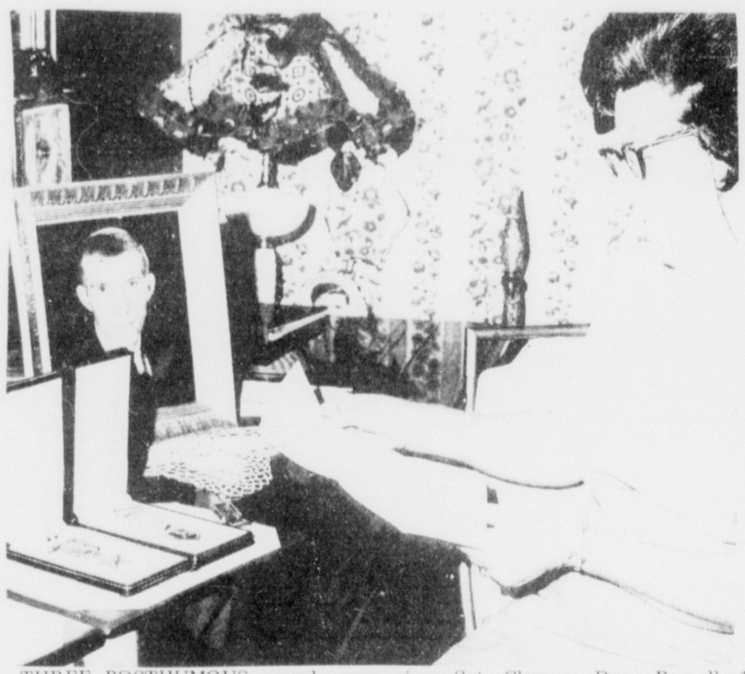
An ordinance was passed prohibiting the operation of motor vehicles on or near the landing area at the Malden Airport. Violators are subject to a fine and sentence.

The ordinance became necessary when it was reported that farmers and others were leaving vehicles parked too close to the landing strips.

Renewal of beer and liquor package store licenses were approved for Northside Package Store, Allan Trout; Super-Quik A.C. Shumway; and King's Cigar Store, James D. King.

Renewal of tavern licenses were approved for Block Inn and Laclede Taverns, Earl King; Bob's Place, Robert L. Ross; and Hickory House Restaurant, A. E. Watson.

Mayor Sparrel Davis and the Council announced plans to blacktop several streets this summer within the city. They requested that any property owners desiring to have a street blacktopped to please contact their Councilman before the next Council meeting.



THREE POSTHUMOUS awards were given Sgt. Clarence Dean Russell, 1966 graduate of Sikeston high school, for service in Vietnam. Russell's mother, Mrs. Verna Todd, Henderson, Ky., reads a letter informing her that her son received posthumously the bronze star medal (first oak leaf cluster), the purple heart and the good conduct medal.

Medals Awarded to Russell

Sgt. Clarence Dean Russell, 1966 graduate of Sikeston high school, has been awarded, posthumously, the bronze star first oak leaf cluster), the purple heart and the good conduct Medals.

Sargeant Russell entered the Sikeston school system during his sophomore year in 1963, and he remained in Sikeston until 1967 when he entered the service.

Sargeant Russell, son of Mrs. Verna Todd, Henderson, Ky., was in Vietnam for the third time when he was killed in action, Feb. 23.

He was killed by enemy small arms fire near Dau Tieng when he left the platoon area to assist to fellow soldiers under heavy fire on the base camp's perimeter.

Prior to his death, he was awarded the bronze star medal for heroism, the purple heart, the national defense service medal, the Vietnam service medal and the Vietnam campaign ribbon.

Both civilians and military men may become members of the French Legion of Honor for outstanding civil or military service.

Workshop for School Lunch Managers Opens

CAPE GIRARDEAU — One summer workshop is in full swing this week at Southeast Missouri State College and preparations are about complete for another to begin.

Thirty school lunchroom managers arrived on the campus Thursday for a two-day, no credit workshop on management aspects of school lunch programs. On the same day a custodial training school, being attended by 31 persons, will come to a conclusion.

The custodians have been receiving instruction since Monday (June 23) in one of three areas — housekeeping, heating and ventilation, and building maintenance and repair. They will receive a certificate upon completion of the course.

The school was organized and operated by the School Building Services Section of the State Department of Education. John T. Ruester, superintendent of buildings and grounds at Southeast Missouri State, was in charge of local arrangements.

Directors of the school lunch workshop will be Miss Geneva Smith and Mrs. Grace Hoover, assistant professor and head of the home economics department at Southeast Missouri State.

The workshop is a joint project of the college's home economics department and the School Food Services Section of the State Department of Education.

receive a reward. He drills about 20 patients a week in the Charleston R-1 Kindergarten building, choosing for immediate attention the most severe cases. The summer speech program is conducted Tuesdays and Thursdays, June 10 until July 30, in half-hour private sessions with voluntary $2.50 donations to the Easter Seal Society.

"The problems we see are in articulation," Rowe said. "Many people unknowingly substitute the "s" sound for the "ch" sound and pronounce a "w" like an "r," as in saying "wabbit." Other problems are mixing the parts of a sentence and leaving out the verbs in speech, Rowe said. Correcting Southeast Missouri dialects and Negro dialects is important if the speech hinders the patient's job, as in radio announcing, the correctionist explained.

A part-time summer staffer at Anna State Hospital in Anna, Ill., and organizer of the Mississippi Co. speech clinic, Rowe said he wants to make the trial summer speech program a permanent county program. The program would work in connection with the speech clinic staffs in the Charleston schools which Rowe will join in the fall. Receiving patient referrals from the County Health Department, school teachers and Headstart, Rowe is discovering that much can be done toward improved speech in Mississippi Co.

"Many people are apathetic about speech correction now, but they will change when they learn about our program." Rowe said. He has already noticed some interest in he program which he expects to increase as Mississippi County people discover the physical and social necessity of correct speech.

Cynthia Bird is from troop 87, East Prairie and Brenda Allen, troop 160, Fisk.

Here — There Everywhere In Sports

With

E. J. Mays

Bootheel fisherman are rapidly becoming acquainted with the fact that Wayne Prince, the affable Marston barber, has laid conclusive claim to being the "best bass-catcher in the Bootheel area" — and he has the results to back up this belief.

For, believe it or not, Wayne has come up with the astounding recording of having caught a total of 70 bass so far this year including an eight pounder, a seven pounder, a half dozen six pounders, more than 20 five pounders and plenty in the three-four pound classification. However, his son, 17-year-old David seems to be even luckier for he had his name drawn for an overall fishing prize at Wal-Mart that netted him $35 in merchandise, even though his entry in the Wal-Mart Fishing Festival had been only a six pounder. That fish won the weekly prize of $25. Father Wayne came through with a pair of weekly wins on catches of seven and eight pounds.

Not only has Wayne and David played havoc with the delusion that the Bootheel Lakes don't have fish like Kentucky Lake, Reelfoot, Bull Shoals or Norfork, but they have indelibely stamped Whitten's Lake and the St. John's Bayou area of New Madrid County as prime fishing spots. Both use Strike King lures, manufactured in Memphis, as their chief attraction with Wayne going for a black shirt and David centered on yellow and green.

"Fish slow and constantly is the Prince's formula for success!"

Nick Kotis, the fishing expert from Akron, Ohio and president of Fred Arbogast Co. Inc., is offering, for the small investment of only 25 cents, a chart showing the depths to be fished during the "Dog Days" of July and August. It is available at all sporting goods stores. Also available, direct from the company at Akron, is a series of fishing motion pictures available for the use of sports and civic clubs. Arrangements may be made by writing Kotis at Fred Arbogast Co. Akron, Ohio.

SHORT CASTS — Sikeston anglers did themselves proud during the past 10 days on the water with Carl Campbell, of Campbell Appliances, faring forth to the Florida Keys and coming back with good catches of grouper, mackerel and yellow-tail . . . Charles Beaudean and Kenneth Cauthorn made Swan Lake, across the river from Cairo, in Kentucky, pay off with limit catches of three-four pounders, using a Rex Spoon . . . Charles "Triple I" Blanton III, availed himself of an opportunity to fish Lake of the Woods and Fox and Separation Lakes in Canada and brought back reports . . . and evidence . . . of good catches of bass, pike and Northerns . . . the lake trout and muskies weren't having any of the party's presentations. The group of newspapermen were hosted by George Holder of Boise Cascade Paper Co.

Harry Herwig, of Charleston, manufacturer of the Devil Jig, demonstrated how to use it to this writer and came through with proof positive with catches of three pounders at a small Kentucky lake. Partner Carl Chappell, of Charleston, also boated some three pounders on the Devil Jig.
